House Okays A-Bill, Senate Still Talks On

Round-the-Clock Fight Continues Into Fourth Day in Upper Chamber

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower's atomic energy law revision won preliminary but apparently decisive victory in the House early today, but remained stalled in a Senate debate which continued into the fourth day of round-the-clock sessions.

No break was in sight in the Senate despite efforts of administration leaders to limit the talk. Republican leader Knowland of California said he would keep the session going until midnight Saturday before recessing until Monday.

House action, subject to formal and final roll call votes on Monday, was taken in a marathon session of its own which stretched 17 1/2 hours until 3:14 a.m. (EDT) today.

The House went all the way through the 104-page bill, voting changes here and there, but Rep. Murray (D-Tenn.) forced postponement of the final voting until Monday by a parliamentary maneuver.

The Senate debate entered its 10th day—and its fourth of nearly continuous sessions—at 10 a. m. (EDT). A short time later Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) completed the longest single speech yet made on the measure after holding the floor for eight hours and four minutes.

Sheppard Case Probers Make California Visit

CLEVELAND (U)—Here and in California, detectives worked today in a stepped-up effort to solve the Marilyn Sheppard murder — a crime for which no motive and no weapon have been found, although it happened three weeks ago tomorrow.

Two days of inquest, with hours of questioning directed at seven witnesses, added little to what already had been known. The major part of the answers came from the slain woman's husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath. The inquest continued Monday.

From San Francisco, Thomas J. Parrino, assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor, and Robert Schottke, Cleveland detective, set out today to check up on a visit Sheppard and his wife made to California in early March.

Their first stop will be Monterey, where the murder victim stayed from March 3-15 at the ranch home of Dr. Randall J. Chapman, a Burbank osteopath. Dr. Sheppard joined her there March 12, after spending two weeks in Los Angeles.

At the inquest yesterday, Dr. Sheppard said he spent several days of that time in Los Angeles as a house guest of a Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller and that Miss Susan Hayes, a pretty 23-year-old hospital technician he had known in

73 Per Cent Okay Quotas, High Support

Planting Restrictions To Be Toughest Ever; Voting Called Light

WASHINGTON (U) — The nation's wheat growers have voted once again to accept controls on their next year's crop — but the margin was the thinnest ever.

The outcome means the government will continue paying high support prices for wheat — somewhere between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. The rate is not yet decided.

But it also means that, in Secretary of Agriculture Benson's own terms, controls on what the farmer can plant in 1955 will be the toughest ever.

Growers supporting controls cast 73.3 per cent of the vote in yesterday's referendum, the Agriculture Department calculated early today. Since a favorable vote of 66.7 per cent was needed to continue controls, the margin was thin indeed — much slimmer than was expected from advance indications.

Some 267,000 farmers voted—a light turnout. Nearly a million were eligible by virtue of planting more than 15 acres of wheat. The outcome was in doubt until North Dakota came in with a whopping majority of "yes" votes — 46,206 to 2,073.

Had controls been rejected, the support price of wheat would have dropped to 50 per cent of parity—the standard said by law to give farmers a fair return for their production compared with their production costs. But farmers would have been able to grow as much wheat as they wished.

Plantings Restricted
The "yes" vote means high supports but stricter-than-usual controls on what farmers can plant. The referendum was held under a law which provides for rigid acreage controls whenever the supply of wheat on hand is above "normal."

It was the smallest "yes" percentage ever rolled up in a wheat program referendum and compares with 87.2 per cent favorable last year, 82.4 per cent in 1942 and 81 per cent in 1941.

Treatment Facilities Inadequate

'Dope' Case Reveals Need for Remedy

The huge problems created by trafficking in dope and the care of addicts were brought to light by the arrest of five such persons in Marion earlier this week.

Charged with obtaining morphine illegally by fraud and misrepresentation, the five are being held in jail. Four are awaiting grand jury action and one is being held pending a Municipal Court hearing on a not guilty plea to the charge.

WHILE THEY WERE arrested for obtaining morphine illegally, they are still getting "a charge" now and then—and for free.

This is because addicts become violently ill if they are suddenly cut off from "dope." So for humanitarian reasons, they are given injections of morphine while in jail whenever they begin to suffer from lack of the drug.

No one is happy about the situation. Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health officer, doesn't like to spend city health funds to keep the addicts supplied with dope.

But the problem still won't end after they go before the grand jury. If indicted and sentenced, they still must be supplied with drugs. If turned loose, they will go back to trying to obtain their own supplies—legally or illegally, it matters not to them, they just "can't live" without it.

ALL THIS CREATES a huge sociological problem. What are the courts to do with addicts who violate a criminal law?

NATIONAL GUARD TAKES OVER. National Guardsmen park impounded Phenix City, Ala., city police car by pushing after it failed to start when guardsmen moved into the city to enforce a qualified martial law. The armed guardsmen moved into the city by truckloads and relieved the city law enforcement officers of their weapons, duties and autos. Alabama Governor Gordon Persons issued the order to suppress the state of lawlessness in Russell County.

Limited Martial Law in Effect In Phenix City

Investigators Hunting Phantom Killer Hope Move Will Help Probe

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (U) — Investigators hunting the phantom killer of A. L. Patterson intensified their search today in hope that witnesses kept silent by fear may talk now that Phenix City is under limited martial law.

There were encouraging signs he first 24 hours after Gov. Gordon Persons stripped Phenix City police and Russell County sheriff's officers of all authority and replaced them with battle-hardened National Guard troops.

Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes, expressing belief that the unprecedented military rule would "open the way to new information," told newsmen yesterday he had noticed an increase in telephone calls and other contacts from residents apparently willing to tell what they might know.

He had remarked earlier there were rumors many persons were afraid to talk before the civilian law enforcement officers were disarmed and relieved of their authority.

It was five weeks ago last night that Patterson was shot to death on a downtown street before he could take office as attorney general, a job he had won on a pledge to rid Phenix City and all Alabama of organized crime and racketeering.

His son, John, has since been nominated for the same office on a promise to carry out the cleanup campaign his father started.

Meanwhile, National Guardsmen and State Patrolmen worked around the clock performing the police functions taken away from the civilian officers.

British Plane Shot Down by Red Jets

HONG KONG (U)—A big British Skymaster airliner carrying 18 persons was shot down off the Red Chinese island of Hainan yesterday, and Great Britain today instructed its charge d'affaires in Peking to protect the attack.

"The two aircraft which attacked the plane could not have come from anywhere else than from Hainan, according to our information from Hong Kong," a London Foreign Office spokesman said.

Eight of the 18 persons aboard the airliner were rescued.

In London, the Foreign Office spokesman said the British government acted on the basis of statements from the pilot and co-pilot of the Skymaster.

He said Charge d'Affaires Humphrey Trevelyan has been instructed to draft a formal protest and it presumably would be delivered to Red China later today.

Jet Plane Strikes Houses, Kills Baby

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (U)—The Air Force ordered an investigation today of a jet plane crash that left a child dead and four persons injured.

The F84 Thunderjet's pilot bailed out before it plunged into the officers' housing section yesterday and exploded.

Three houses were set afire. In one, base policemen found the body of 8-month-old Matthew Carl Watry, son of Capt. and Mrs. Charles A. Watry of Glendale, Calif. The parents suffered severe burns and shock.

Minor injuries were received by Mrs. Dorothy V. Horvath, wife of Capt. Matthew J. Horvath of Warren, Ohio, and her son.

School Head Served Here For 6 Years

Will Remain Until Local Successor Can Be Chosen by Board

Lester L. Dickey, Marion City School superintendent, resigned today to accept a position as superintendent of schools at Hamilton.

Dickey, who has been Marion superintendent since February, 1948, signed a five-year contract at $12,500 a year. His salary here has been $9,600 a year.

Dickey said he will remain in Marion until the school board has had time to name a successor.

"My family and I leave Marion very reluctantly," Dickey said. "We like Marion and its growing school system. It's been a pleasure to work here."

"I've been very hesitant about making a move but I feel the Hamilton offer is a step forward," Dickey said. "My family and I have made no plans for moving as yet because the offer came so suddenly."

"The people of Marion should be proud of their schools and the improving program," he said. "They have added many new improvements such as buildings, driver training, classes for slow learners, arts and crafts and a business department."

Dickey said about 10,000 students are in the system at Hamilton, a city of about 60,000. Approximately 6,000 students are in the Marion system.

At Hamilton, Dickey will succeed Walter Crewson, who resigned recently to become superintendent at Levittown, N. Y.

Served at Painesville

Dickey began his duties in Marion on Feb. 6, 1948. He had been serving in the Painesville school system since 1929 as athletic coach, teacher, principal and school superintendent.

He taught school in Muskingum County and served as school principal in Tuscarawas County before going to Painesville.

He received his B.A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1925, his M.A. from Ohio State in 1934 and his Ph.D. from Teachers College of Columbia University this year.

A native of Dresden, O., Dickey succeeds Walter Crewson as Hamilton superintendent. Crewson recently resigned to become superintendent at Levittown, N. Y.

Building Improvements

During Dickey's tenure in Marion, the city has seen a vast improvement in the school buildings, as well as advances in the curriculum.

Two new school buildings were erected in the period—the Taft Junior High School and the new Harding High.

Most of the city's other school buildings had some major physical improvements as well. The old Harding building was improved and made into Baker Junior High. Cafeterias were added to both elementary and junior high buildings.

Three old schools were abandoned, the old Central Junior High building on W. Center St., and the Forest Lawn and Greenwood elementary buildings.

Both present and past school board members, while glad he has been given the offer for advancement, were unhappy that Dickey was leaving the Marion school system.

Charles Harmon, president of the school board, said "We're sorry to lose him. He was a fine superintendent, and we hate to see him go."

Harmon said he believes the Marion system could have retained Dickey if the school levy had been approved in the spring. Then the board could have increased his salary and perhaps induced him to stay, Harmon said.

Harmon expects to call a meeting of the school board early next week to begin the task of selecting a successor.

Prized as Leader
J. D. Torrance, a former president of the Marion Board of Education, and long active in the local school program, expressed regret that Dickey was leaving and had high praise for his service here.

"Marion has been very fortunate in having good superintendents, and Dickey was one of the best," he said. "He was a master at developing and promoting bond issues which enabled the city to complete an extensive school improvement program. He was close to his teachers, was active in the school system, and was a fine superintendent, and we hate to see him go."

Demonstration Flight Ends in Crash, 6 Killed

Prospective Purchaser Dies; Seventh Billfold Found at Wreck Scene

PIKEVILLE, Tenn. (U)—A twin-engine plane being demonstrated to a prospective buyer on a Michigan-to-Florida trip crashed into a mountain top southeast of here yesterday, killing at least six persons.

Tennessee Highway Patrolman Lloyd Baker said at Chattanooga early today that a seventh billfold had been found, indicating another possible victim.

The plane was en route from Pontiac, Mich., to Tampa, when it came in low over the mountain, dropped an engine and then crashed, throwing wreckage and mangled bodies over an area almost a mile across.

The pilot, Gordon Franklin Werrick of Pontiac, had picked up the interested buyer, Howard E. Anthony, and the other passengers at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Beside Anthony, who was the president of the Heath Co., manufacturer of electronic supplies and a bank director, and Werrick, the other victims included:

Morris William Durham, Lawrence, Mich., Anthony's private pilot.

Gordon Paxton, Benton Harbor, Mr. and Mrs. Laurel Brown, Lawrence.

A witness, Mrs. Arthur Simmons, who lives near the crash scene, said she watched the plane pass about 200 feet over her house with a "roar like a bunch of jets flying over." She said she saw a motor fall from the plane and land near her house.

Boy Identified; Memory Lapse Just a Scheme

Identity of a 16-year-old youth held by Marion police and who appeared to be an amnesia victim was established today.

He is Wilford Loren Carter of Toronto, Canada.

Police Chief Thomas B. Coon said the identification was made from fingerprints taken by city police and sent to the FBI in Washington. He said a telegram arrived this morning which stated the fingerprints were identical to those of Carter.

The telegram further informed city police that Carter was previously arrested—no date was listed—on a charge of entering the United States illegally. The telegram said he crossed the border without inspection at a checkpoint.

At that time he wittily agreed to return to Canada. He apparently re-entered again later and on June 16 was arrested in Pittsfield, Mass., on a charge of vagrancy.

He was taken into custody here last Sunday by Erie Railroad police when they caught him in the Erie yards. Charged with trespassing, he was turned over to juvenile authorities and city police for further action.

Police first reported that the youth was being held on Thursday when Chief Coon announced, he was being detained and that "he appears to be a victim of amnesia."

Coon said yesterday that police and juvenile officers had been attempting to establish his identity since Sunday without success. The

McCarthy Aide Again Denied Defense Okay

Angry Senator Says He Will No Longer Ask Pentagon's Clearance

WASHINGTON (AP) — An angry Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will no longer ask the Pentagon to okay any of his aides for access to secret information.

McCarthy's declaration came on the heels of a new Defense Department refusal to clear Thomas W. LaVenia, a McCarthy appointee on the Senate Investigations subcommittee staff for access to classified documents, or to explain its reasons for withholding clearance.

LaVenia, telling his side of the story to his Senate bosses, reported he believes his Pentagon turnaround stems from FBI reports about a Secret Service role he played in 1943 in investigating an alleged plot against President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He thinks he performed a playboy role so well it was misunderstood by investigators.

LaVenia and one other are the only two subcommittee staff members said to have been refused clearance after it was asked of the Defense Department. The other, Donald A. Surine, was switched by Chairman McCarthy from the subcommittee to the senator's own office payroll.

But after the new Pentagon turnaround on LaVenia, McCarthy told newsmen today: "I don't intend to ask for any clearance from the Defense Department for anyone else."

Scope of Work Limited
LaVenia gave a sworn statement at a closed subcommittee session yesterday. McCarthy then announced the group had "agreed" without a formal vote to keep LaVenia on the staff but to assign him to work in which he would not have access to classified documents unless and until he does get clearance. He now is assistant counsel and office manager.

Walter M. Buckner, general counsel to the Defense Department, brought the subcommittee word of the new refusal to clear or tell why. He told reporters he had explained to the subcommittee in the closed meeting the derogatory information about LaVenia came from the FBI and that Justice Department rules forbid disclosure of the details.

LaVenia said he told the subcommittee that he was once selected by the Secret Service which operates under the Treasury Department to "act as a playboy and man about town." He said this was a part of an investigation of a reported plot against the security of Roosevelt.

French Give Sweeping Okay To Cease-Fire

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly approved the Indochina cease-fire last night by a sweeping 471-14 vote.

An Assembly resolution, expressing satisfaction at the outcome of the Geneva conference, said the cessation of hostilities was "due, in a large measure, to the decisive action" of Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

During debate the Premier clashed with ex-Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who attacked the Indochina settlement as another Munich — the 1938 agreement which split Czechoslovakia and paved the way for Nazi aggression.

Bidault had headed the French delegation at the three-month Geneva conference during the early unsuccessful stages of the negotiations. Mendes-France took over the premiership from Joseph Laniel with the pledge he would bring the Indochina war to an end by July 20 or resign.

Wheat

The unofficial totals — complete, official figures won't be available for three or four weeks — show that 195,801 farmers voted for the control program and 71,393 against. One year ago the vote was 390,221 "yes" and 57,221 "no."

It's not known now at exactly what level wheat supports will be pegged next year. The present law would set this at 90 per cent of parity. But Congress is considering President Eisenhower's recommendation of a flexible system ranging from 75 to 90 per cent. The House has passed a scale sliding from 82½ to 90 per cent. The Senate hasn't acted but its Agriculture Committee recommends continuation at a rigid 90 per cent.

Marion County Farmers' Vote Opposes Quota

Marion County farmers voted almost four to one against wheat marketing quotas in yesterday's nationwide balloting.

Of the 187 farmers who voted, 37 favored quotas and 150 opposed. Twenty-five votes were challenged and their validity is yet to be determined.

County ASC Chairman Frank Montgomery said fewer county farmers voted this year than last. About 500 county farmers were eligible to vote, he said. Local voting followed a state trend toward light voting, Montgomery said.

The vote at Marion County's five polling places was as follows: Catletonia, 9 for, 29 against, 3 challenged. Waldo, 6 for, 11 against, 7 challenged. Meeker, 9 for, 33 against, 11 challenged. LaRue, 7 for, 19 against, 3 challenged. Marion, 6 for, 33 against, 2 challenged.

Ohio Farmers 2 to 1 Against Wheat Controls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Why did Ohio farmers vote heavily against wheat marketing quotas?

Farm experts here were saying today the big reasons are fear crop controls would interrupt the planting cycle in which wheat is used as a rotation crop and — Ohioans just don't like federal controls.

And one obvious reason is that farmers feel they will make more money on their wheat without marketing quotas even if they are guaranteed no more than 50 per cent of parity. A "yes" vote would be a vote for higher supports—75 to 90 per cent—for those staying inside quota restrictions.

Ward McNeill, administrative assistant for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee here, said only 35.1 per cent of 13,549 Ohioans voting favored the controls.

The vote in Ohio was 4726 in favor of controls, 8733 against.

Crawford County Votes Defeat For Wheat Quotas

BUCKEY, Ohio (AP) — For the second consecutive year Crawford County's wheat growers Friday turned "thumbs down" on proposed wheat marketing quotas for the 1955 crop.

Only 39 votes were cast in favor of the marketing quotas while 167 were cast against the proposal. An additional 58 votes were challenged and did not figure in the final tabulation. Harry F. Fausner of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reported.

Last year county wheat farmers voted 269 to 131 against the marketing quotas, which were opposed overwhelmingly over the nation.

County farmers voted at the Galton city building, the Tiro School, Lykens Township Hall and the ASC offices in Bucky.

Narcotics

Institutions from federal courts the chances are they'll be back on "the gunk" a few days after they are turned loose.

This is because they return to the same environment which fostered the dope habit in the first place. "What's to be done, then?" One step in Ohio toward a solution of the problem has been the organization of local Narcotics Advisory Committees under the direction of C. William O'Neill, state attorney general.

IN MARION more than 60 city and county officials, law enforcement officials and civic leaders are members of such a committee.

One aim of the state-wide Narcotics Advisory Committee is to revise Ohio narcotics laws to make them fit present day needs to provide for the proper care of addicts and possibly rehabilitate and return most of them to lives as useful citizens of their communities.

This means they must be given proper psychiatric care if they are to be retained as useful citizens. They need someone who can guide them properly and teach them to react normally to everyday life without the need of narcotics.

Provision of this care must be given either on the state or local level and many authorities feel that the cost would be no greater than the present method of dealing with them. It is a cost to the community holding no hope the addicts will be returned to useful lives after their jail terms are up.

ANOTHER PART of the Ohio program is to attempt to revise narcotics laws to put teeth into them. Make the penalties for peddling and buying dope illegally so severe the racketeers will avoid handling the "stuff" is the advice of many authorities.

Thus, if dope were made extremely difficult to obtain there would be fewer addicts and if those already addicted were given proper "post-cure" care, there would be a much greater percentage of them returned to useful lives. In time the dope addiction problem would become almost nil.

Locally the narcotics problem is not troublesome, according to Marion Police Chief Thomas Con-Tue, there are many rumors of dope peddling and usage but actually there are less local addicts than in many other cities of comparative size. Only a few are known and they are harmless and able to obtain sufficient supplies legally to satisfy the craving of their bodies without recourse to criminal acts. In addition they are known to police and are watched constantly.

AS FOR DOPE trafficking in the Marion area, law enforcement officials know of none. Constant surveillance by city police and complete cooperation of doctors, druggists, and others keeps the possibility of this leech of human lives from gaining a foothold in the community.

But all this does not mean the problem couldn't become much worse locally. Other larger cities in the state have considerable troubles caused by the trafficking of narcotics. The problem could easily spread and multiply.

Ohio officials feel that it's a problem that needs wide publicity so all Ohio citizens may tackle it and bring about an eventual solution—which although costly at first—will eventually mean a saving in human lives, dignity and dollars.

Texan Admits Slaying Girl in Indiana Hotel

Strangled Her After Protest, Stuffed Body In Drawer of Dresser

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Victor Lively, 32-year-old Texan who admitted the "dresser-drawer" slaying of a teen-age girl in an Indianapolis hotel, will be returned to the scene of the crime today.

Lively in a signed statement yesterday admitted killing 18-year-old Dorothy Poore three hours after he was seized by two St. Louis County deputy sheriffs while walking on a highway.

Deputies said Lively told them he became enraged when the girl protested about his drinking and that he choked her three or four minutes until she was dead.

The body of the Clinton High school graduate was discovered in a dresser drawer at the Claypool Hotel in Indianapolis last Sunday three days after she was slain. It was clad in bra panties and slip.

Indianapolis Detective Sgt. Harold Goodman and Randolph Schubert arrived here late last night to return Lively there. He has waived extradition.

The two detectives brought Bruno Widman, 30-year-old Claypool Hotel bellhop with them and said he identified Lively as the man who registered at the hotel under the name of "Jack O'Shea."

Lively they said also said he recognized Widman as a bellhop who was on duty at the hotel when he registered there.

Lively, who has unusually muscular arms and is 5 foot 3 inches tall, said he picked up the Poore girl earlier on the day of her death in a hamburger stand in downtown Indianapolis.

Lively said he had been drinking and continued to drink in the hotel room while he and Miss Poore were in the room. Lively told officers two maids came in to clean it up. He said another girl whom he knew only as "Ruth" was with him and Miss Poore for a time before the slaying.

Lively who said he had been married six times and had one child was carrying a loaded .32 caliber automatic when arrested.

After the slaying Lively told officers he sat in a chair and drank gin and tonics for five hours before stuffing the body into the drawer. He left Indianapolis immediately after the slaying for East St. Louis, Ill. where he worked several days as a solicitor for a home improvement firm. His employer said Lively became excited after reading an Indianapolis newspaper and left hurriedly after collecting his pay.

He came to St. Louis Thursday and slept in the open near the place where he was captured. Lively told officers he was hitchhiking to Beaumont, Tex. where he was born to visit his foster mother.

At Beaumont, Detective Capt. J. W. Wingo said Lively had never been charged in a sex case but that he "used to lure women to his hotel room."

Chief Con said that they will refer him to federal immigration and naturalization authorities in Columbus Monday for further action. In the meantime he will be held in the county jail.

He said that after news stories were released yesterday on the youth several local residents called and "wanted to identify the boy."

Inquiry Sought Over Missing Security Chief

BERLIN (AP) — A West Berlin custom guard said today West Germany's missing security chief Dr. Otto John told him Tuesday night at the East zone border he was going behind the Iron curtain voluntarily.

The guard told police he had stopped a car with John and a West Berlin friend Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth for a routine check at the British sector border and had given them the customary warning: "You are now crossing into the Soviet sector."

Both men laughed at his warning and replied: "That's where we are heading. We are going to the Charite Hospital, the guard said."

Police said they believed the statement of the guard who was not identified.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has ordered a sweeping loyalty investigation of all West German officials who were friendly with John.

Pressure for a full inquiry into the apparent defection of John has mounted since the Soviet zone radio claimed last night he had voluntarily fled behind the Iron Curtain.

Since 1950 John, 44, had headed the West German government bureau charged with safeguarding the republic against subversive activities.

The West German government has maintained since his disappearance became known Thursday that he was kidnapped by the Communists. The U. S. High Commission said after an investigation that he was trapped or forced to go East.

The West German Free Democratic party, a member of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's coalition government, demanded an investigation of the Federal Republic's security forces.

The party chairman declared: "The decision to put John in charge of security activities was apparently wrong."

One major Hamburg paper commented: "This is the biggest scandal the young West German Federal Republic has experienced until now."

Rhee To Seek Economic Aid And U.S. Arms
SEOUL (AP) — South Korean President Syngman Rhee flies to Washington tomorrow to seek from President Eisenhower more economic and military aid for his divided land.

The ROK president told newsmen today at one of his rare press conferences, however, that he would not beg for more aid.

He did say he wanted to see that funds properly allocated are spent in a proper manner, and added:

"I'm sorry to say and admit that large sums given for reconstruction are not being used correctly."

In discussing the possible unification of his country Rhee struck a much milder tone—unlike previous statements in which he said armed force was the only way to free North Korea from the Communists.

Rhee said that the United Nations perhaps can succeed in persuading or somehow forcing the Reds to withdraw.

He quoted her as saying bullets splattered among the passengers and unquestionably a number were hit. He said his wife doubted that others were able to escape before the four-engine airplane went to the bottom of the South China Sea.

An official Hong Kong government announcement said there is now substantial evidence that the Cathay Pacific Airways plane which ditched in the sea off Hainan Islands yesterday morning was shot down by two unidentified fighter planes while on its normal route from Singapore to Hong Kong. Enquiries are continuing.

Dulles Urges Measures To Preserve Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration has now reached two basic conclusions about the Indochina peace settlement at Geneva.

1. If the United States and its Allies act quickly and decisively they can take military, political and economic measures which should save the rest of Indochina from Communist conquest either by a new open aggression or by subversion.

2. Just because Russia and Red China agreed to an Indochina settlement this does not provide any basis for believing the Communists will now agree to desirable Korean, German and Austrian settlements or to disarmament and atomic bomb control systems.

Cold War Still on
These points stood out in a news conference held by Secretary of State Dulles late yesterday near the end of a hectic week in international affairs. They demonstrated that the American government assumes the cold war is still a very active combat and that Russian talk of sweeping world settlements is simply propaganda designed to muddy the Western Allies.

Dulles said again that the Indochina settlement was one which the United States did not like, but that in effect it simply reflected the military reality of a situation in which French-led forces were losing and Communist troops were winning the Indochina war.

"The important thing from now on," he said, "is not to mourn the past but to seize the future opportunity to prevent the loss in Northern Viet Nam from leading to the extension of communism throughout southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific."

Loss May Become Gain
"If the free nations which have a stake in this area will now work together to avail our present opportunities in the light of past experience, then the loss of the present may lead to a gain for the future."

In the wake of this opening statement Dulles was asked what he thought about a Russian declaration of Thursday that more international conferences should now be held to settle such cold war issues as the future of Germany, Korea and Australia and disarmament and H-bomb control.

Dulles said that the American government was always hopeful of Soviet cooperation. But he declared this country has done a long way in recent meetings to test out the good faith of the Soviet Union and so far the results have been entirely negative.

Atomic

Except for a 25 minute break early Friday — a technicality involved in the effort to limit debate — the Senate had been in session continuously for more than 72 hours. The record unbroken session of 54 hours, 10 minutes was set in 1915.

Sen. Morse's Aim
Morse sought to strike from the bill a provision which would designate the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission as official spokesman for the AEC — a compromise which ended a long fight in committee before the measure reached the floor.

He said all five commissioners "should function on the basis of equal responsibility." Many persons, he said, are "fearful of the designs" of the present chairman, Lewis L. Strauss.

A time-consuming quorum call was demanded in advance of a vote on Morse's amendment. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) appeared ready to take the floor to carry on what Knowland has called a "full-fledged filibuster."

Morse opened up after Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) had held the floor 5 hours, 12 minutes. Sparkman, another member of a determined band of opponents composed mostly of Democrats, asked a motion in the bill to allow a longer government holding period on atomic patents.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, spoke determinedly both to the Senate and in an interview. He said he plans to press Monday his cloture petition to limit debate, unless he gets an earlier agreement to shorten the talkfest — an accord he has been unsuccessful in gaining in repeated attempts so far.

Nor were there indications his cloture move already introduced with the signatures of 38 GOP senators was likely to gain the 64-member approval needed to take effect if he presses it to a vote. Most of the 47 Democrats and some Republicans were reported opposed to the cloture attempt.

In the House, where strict debate-limiting rules are the normal course, administration forces held solid sway yesterday and into the wee hours of the morning as they went through the complicated bill. The measure in general would revise the original 1946 atomic energy law to allow a limited sharing of atomic information with U. S. allies and to let private industry enter the field of peacetime atomic power development.

Union Contract At Local Plant Extended to '55
Members of the UAW CIO Local 1039 at Marion Industries Division of Motor Products Corp. Friday approved extension of their present contract with the company until Aug. 1, 1955.

Clod Lichy, international representative, said today a special meeting at the plant yesterday was called to wind up negotiations with the company concerning the contract and some grievances which were not previously resolved. The plant is now being shut down gradually by the company because of economic conditions.

He noted that the contract provides that either side could reopen negotiations if and when the plant reopens. He said that both the union members and the company agreed to those terms.

Lichy further said company officials told union negotiators that as soon as possible but there is no assurance this will occur.

A few workers are to be retained at the plant for an indefinite period mostly for maintenance purposes, according to Lichy.

Company officials had previously announced the production workers would gradually be laid off as the plant was closed down over a three to four month period. They said they hoped it might be reopened if the company could find other products to manufacture. The plant is equipped for production line manufacture and chrome plating of automobile radiator grilles, moldings, and window frames.

Smith, Doby Power Indians to 8-2 Win Over Yanks

Wynn Notches 13th Verdict Despite 14 Hits for Losers

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — If Cleveland beats out the New York Yankees for the pennant, a man named Al Smith could be the reason.

The 26-year-old Negro outfielder from Kirkwood, Mo., drove in five runs in last night's 8-2 Cleveland romp over the Yankees with a three-run homer and a two-run single. His third-inning double didn't do anything but boost his average.

Earlier in the year, Smith hit a home run off Johnny Sain that climaxed a long uphill struggle by the Tribe after the Yanks had taken a big early lead.

Reporters asked Manager Al Lopez what he thought was the biggest improvement in the 1954 Tribe over the clubs that ran second in the last three years.

"I'd say Smith was our biggest single improvement," he said. "He's a real good ball player, now. Smith and our secondary pitching from fellows like Art Houtteman, Hal Newhouser, Bob Feller and Ray Narleski."

The score was tied 2-2 with two men on when Smith drove one of Eddie Lopat's pitches deep into the lower left field seats in the seventh inning. He didn't even know what he hit.

"He throws 'em on the outside, another on the inside and then gives you a slider or a screw ball," Smith said.

"If I live to be 75, I'll never understand how he does it. You watch him warm up and he looks like a batting practice pitcher. But he's tough. They can call him junk man, but he knows what he's doing all the time."

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, also was mystified by Lopat. But for another reason. He couldn't understand how he lost his stuff so suddenly in the seventh. It was his eighth straight failure to go the route.

"Another one down the drain," said Stengel. "If you don't get the pitch, you can't beat the top clubs. What makes it extra tough is getting 14 hits and still getting beat."

In the Cleveland clubhouse, the victory was taken in stride. No back slapping. No cheers. Just a few handshakes.

Funny thing, nobody said a word about the way Cleveland used to fold in Yankee Stadium. The only club the crowd of 61,446 paid (10-1) in the majors in '54 saw fold was the Yankees.

Early Wynn got credit for yesterday's victory, although the Yanks rapped him for 14 hits—two more than the Tribe collected. Wynn managed to leave a dozen stranded, and the Indians had only five left on base. The triumph made Wynn the first Cleveland hurler this season to win 13. He has lost five.

Although Smith's hitting was the big offensive factor, Larry Doby made the Indians' first run with a homer in the sixth and clouded another, his 19th, to lead off the eighth.

Successive slugs by Vic Wertz, Dave Philley and George Strickland scored a Tribe run that tied the score at 2-2 in the seventh.

Irv Noren singled home the Yanks' two runs in the fourth after singles by Gene Woodling and Andy Carey and an intentional pass to pinch hitter Enos Slaughter had loaded the bases.

Today southpaw Don Mossi will go for Cleveland against Allie Reynolds (10-1). Mossi, who has four victories and one loss, will be the first Tribe rookie to start against the champs since Mike Garcia did it five years ago.

Alloy and G&G Notch Wins in Pony Contests

Alloy and G & G Homes turned in victories last night at Lincoln Park in Pony League make-up tilts.

Alloy edged VFW 2-1 in a tilt played under protest while G & G Homes outscored Clark Metal 10-6. Joe Ambrose hurled Alloy to its one-run decision over VFW on a four-hitter. Two runs in the fifth frame was all that he needed as he struck out 15 and walked six. VFW netted its lone run off Ambrose in the second frame.

Steve Fleisher was the VFW hurler. Tagged for seven hits, he struck out 14 while walking five and hitting a batter.

Everett Rice and Vaughn Williams both had a pair of hits for the winners while Joel Lenavitt, Ambrose and Dale Walters all contributed hits. John Nichols, Gene Remmey, Bob Merriman and Ron Baker collected the VFW hits.

A run-scoring spurge by G & G Homes in the final three frames carried it to its victory over Clark Metal.

The winners scored twice in the fifth, twice in the sixth and thrice in the seventh to account for the win. G & G Homes had hit pay-dirt twice in the first and once in the fourth while Clark Metal got a run in the second, two in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Jim Anspaugh hurled for the winners. Surrendering nine hits, he struck out 11 and walked three. Ted Lindsay, on the hill for the losers, was touched for eight hits while striking out 12 and walking one.

Bob Smiley and Bob Claypool both netted two hits for the winners while other hits were batted out by Bob Middleton, Anspaugh, Ted Anderson, and Tom White. Don Watt, Lindsay, Ross Morbitt, and Bruce McClean all had two hits apiece for Clark Metal while Bill Fetter collected the other.

In four appearances in All-Star competition, Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians pitched 13 innings without giving up an earned run.

16 Survive Sudden Death Rounds in PGA Tourney

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — There's more to match play golf than mere mathematics, but the figures might give you the winner of the 36th PGA Championship.

With only 16 players left after the two 18-hole "sudden death" rounds were passed with a minimum of unforeseen casualties, there was time today to check up on the "hot" players.

The three who have played the bare 6,652-yard Keller Public course the best for three days include two of the best-natured guys in the pro golf business — Ed "Porky" Oliver of Lemont, Ill., and Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo — and the usually-serious Shelby Mayfield, from Texas by way of Chieopee, Mass.

Here's how the stand against Kellers vulnerable par of 36-35-71 for two days of qualifying and two rounds of 18-hole match play: Mayfield has shot 65 competitive holes here 15 strokes under par.

Oliver is 11 under par for 69 holes.

De Vicenzo is nine under par for 65 holes.

To these might be added Dutch Harrison of St. Louis, who didn't sparkle in the qualifying round but beat two tough opponents, Jackie Burke and Johnny Palmer yesterday.

Also among the survivors of those first two rounds are three-time champion Sam Snead, defending champion Wally Burkemo; Johnny Revolta, the PGA champion back in 1935; and former open champion Cary Middlecott.

Among the missing are open champion Ed Furgol, victim of the only real upset of the first day; ex-champion Jimmy Turnesa and three players who have been runners-up in this tournament, Palmer, Mike Turnesa and Henry Williams.

Furgol was the second round victim of Jim Browning from Weston, Mass.

Mayfield beat Wally Ulrich of Maplewood, N.J.

Pollak Defeats Phone Squad, Eaton Nips Erie

Pollak and Eaton pounded out wins in Industrial League No. 2 action last night at Garfield Park.

Pollak routed General Telephone 16-9 while Eaton disposed of Erie No. 2 12-10.

One run in the sixth and six in the seventh sealed Pollak's win over Telephone. The score had been deadlocked, 9-9, with Pollak netting five runs in the first, and two each in the fourth and fifth frames. Telephone got two runs in the second, one in the third, four in the fourth and two in the fifth. Potts and Hartley hurried for the winners and surrendered a total of 14 hits while Pollak was only able to touch Drake of Telephone for 10 safeties. The winners used five walks and two hits for their five-run first inning and scored six times in the seventh on three hits, an error and two walks. Krider collected three hits for the winners while rake homered for Telephone.

Erie No. 2 blew a nine-run lead early in the contest to drop its score to Eaton. The Railroadmen scored nine times in the first and added another tally in the top of the third but Eaton came back with eight runs in the third, one each in the fourth and fifth frames, and two in the last of the sixth. Three walks, four hits and three errors figured in Erie's first-inning scoring while six hits, a walk and a fielder's choice netted eight runs for Eaton in the third. Goham hurried Eaton to the victory while Cottrill was on the hill for the losers. Ferriman with two hits, Goham with a home run in the third and Jagers with a home run in the sixth led the Eaton hitting attack.

Cincy Bows To Pirates, Falls to 6th

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who had been looking to second place as the next logical step upward earlier this week, found themselves in sixth place today.

The lowly Pittsburgh Pirates pushed them down 7-4 last night with the aid of two costly errors by Jim Greengrass.

Greengrass started to be a hero, driving in three runs in the first inning with his 18th circuit clout of the season. But he quickly became the goat in the top of the second.

Frank Thomas, Buc centerfielder, opened the frame with a home run. Pitcher Corky Valentine got out the next two men, but Dick Cole beat out a single and ex-Ohio State football star Vic Janowicz walked.

Valentine's opponent, Dick Littlefield, singled in one run. Greengrass then let Littlefield's ball roll past him, enabling Janowicz to score. And on the leftfielders wild throw to third base, Littlefield came home with the fourth run of the inning.

The setback, their fourth straight and the first Pirate victory in Crosley Field this season, plunged the Reds won-loss record below the .500 mark.

Andy Seminick tied the score 4-4 in the sixth inning with a homer. Sid Gordon's pinch home run in the seventh with one aboard put the Pirates back into the lead.

They added an insurance run in the ninth on Dick Cole's double, a sacrifice and Gair Allie's single. Gordon's homer came off Joe Nuxhall, who was tagged for the loss, his third in seven decisions.

While the Reds outdid the Pirates, their bats were woefully weak in the pinch.

Valentine was taken out in the third. Nuxhall stayed around until lifted for a pinchhitter in the eighth, and Frank Smith finished.

Park Directors Complete Plans For City Meet

Recreation directors at the Lincoln Park Playground are currently conducting tryouts for the first Marion City Playground track meet.

The event will be held next Thursday at the Playground area and will be open to any children in the city between the first and ninth grades or between six and fifteen years old.

Walker Huffman, playground director, reported today arrangements have been completed for the event. Facilities have been added at the park in order to assure a better and more complete meet.

The events will be run off according to the contestants' class in school. A 40-yard dash will be staged for pupils from the first through the third grades and a 50-yard event for children from grade four through nine. Other events include a softball base circling contest for all grades and a basket shooting match for all grades. Broad jumping will be held for grades four through nine.

Ribbons will be awarded the children finishing first and second in each division and each event. The first three finishers also will be taken to Prospect the following week for a track meet with the Prospect Playground team, under the direction of Paul R. Keller, Huffman reported.

Huffman also reported the past week's attendance at playground sessions reached 546 youngsters, despite an off day Wednesday because of rain. Younger children attended the arts and crafts program under the direction of Miss Cora Jane Lehner while the others took part in a variety of activities directed by Huffman, Bill Cover and Paul O'Rourke.

The park's junior softball team opened its season Friday morning with a 12-1 win over the Central Christian Church Playground squad at the losers' diamond. The two teams will play a return engagement next Friday at Lincoln Park. The park team composed of the older playground boys will open its season Sunday with a game against the Eagles Lodge at 2 p.m. at Garfield Park.

Cleveland Hitters Not Ready To Quit, New Yorkers Learn

By BEN PHILEGAN
AP Sports Writer

New York Yankee fans who have been waiting patiently, but confidently for Cleveland to fold look as if they are in for a long wait.

The Indians have two games left today and tomorrow in their current invasion of Yankee Stadium, but they could lose both of them by 20 runs and still leave town Sunday night with first place in their possession.

They beat the New Yorkers 8-2 last night and they did it the hard way, coming from two runs behind while allowing the Yankees 14 hits. But it was a victory that left no doubt the Indians are dead serious about this pennant business.

The idea that all they have to do is wait and the Indian menace eventually will disappear has been a come firmly implanted in the minds of the Yankee followers, although the records don't lend much support to the theory.

It's true the Indians have settled for second best the past three seasons and during that spell they found no sure way to halt the Yankees.

But only in 1951 were the Indians in first place this late in the race. That season Cleveland climaxed a drive from sixth by leading for three weeks late in August. But the climb wore out the Indians and they faded five games off the pace in September.

This time it's the Yankees who are trying to reach the top and last night's game was a sample of the troubles they've been having. They left 12 men stranded and Eddie Lopat failed to last for the eighth straight game.

At Smith was the hitting star for the Indians, breaking up a tie game with a three-run homer in the seventh and then driving in two more with a bases-loaded single in the ninth.

In other action in the American League the Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 7-1; Baltimore pushed Philadelphia into last place with a 7-5 victory and Washington beat Detroit 8-3, leaving the Senators only two percentage points out of first division.

The New York Giants lost their second straight game — the first time since May 29-30 they've been beaten twice running — and second place Brooklyn also lost.

Milwaukee edged the Giants 3-2. St. Louis defeated Brooklyn 6-4. Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 7-4 and Chicago and Philadelphia split a doubleheader. Chicago won the first game 5-2. The Phils took the second, 5-3 in 13 innings.

Two crowd records were set. The season's largest gathering, 61,446, watched the Indians win. The 45,056 ho sat in on Milwaukee's victory, established an all-time County Stadium record.

The Braves fans saw their favorites win on a pinch single with two out in the ninth by Bobby Thomson, who was making his first appearance against his former New York teammates. Thomson's hit was his third in four official times at bat since he broke his ankle in spring training. Bob Buhl flashed his form of last season in going the distance for his second success.

Rookie Joe Cunningham helped Vic Raschi win his first game since June 15 as he drove in three runs with a homer and a double. Gil Hodges and Sandy Amoros homered for Brooklyn.

Danny Schell of the Phils hit a home run in the first game and

25-Lap Dash Tops Sunday's Events at Local Speed Bowl

Stock car racing will resume Sunday night at the Marion Speed Bowl. A record-breaking crowd was on hand last Sunday and more fans and cars are expected for this week's session.

Paul Hooper, Ted Rambo, Bill Krehmer, Louis Louck, Clarence Ray and other drivers from this area will be competing against some of the top drivers from throughout Ohio.

Six 10-lap events are on the program and a 25-lap feature will top the card. Roy Hobson, manager of the Speed Bowl, reported a new seating arrangement is being worked on and dust control work has been going on all week.

The Speed Bowl is located five miles north of Marion just off Route 23. Time trials are scheduled for 7 p.m. with the first race starting at 8:30.

Painting Hints For Outside of Houses Given

NEW YORK—Perhaps you have been planning to give a new coat of color to the outside of your house during your free time this summer. If so, you'll be interested in an article in the August issue of "House and Garden." It's called "What You Should Know About Painting Your House."

In addition to picturing and describing six attractive color schemes for six different types of houses, the article gives a score or more of practical suggestions as to how to go about painting the outside of your house.

"The outside paint on a house not only gives it personality, but provides a protective skin against the elements all year long," states the story. "If you use modern, improved paints, the protection and good looks should, with proper care, last for five or six years. But even the best of paints can't do their work if applied under adverse conditions," warns the article.

Then, it advises: "If conditions exist that allow moisture to seep through the walls, remedy them at once. Never paint directly after a rainfall; wait until the walls are thoroughly dry. Conversely, avoid painting when walls are exposed to direct, hot sun. Always buy the best quality paint and see that it is thoroughly mixed and applied with the right brushes. Doing this will guarantee a first class job, one that will last its expected span of life."

With regard to the actual application of paint, the article lists a 3 1/2-inch to 4-inch brush for use on siding, a 2 1/2-inch to 3-inch brush for trim, a 1-inch to 2-inch sash tool brush for work around windows. It also emphasizes the importance of taking good care of your brushes so they will render the best and longest service.

In connection with the prevention of stains on painted walls, it advises: "Before you repaint your house, make certain that stains will not occur after the job is done. Unpainted copper and galvanized iron surfaces, drain pipes, gutters and screens are the worst offenders. A zinc-dust paint, used as a primer, will prevent the metal from staining painted surfaces for several years. Spar varnish is also satisfactory for copper or bronze screens."

There is a section, too, on estimating the amount of paint you will need so that you will know in advance how much your painting materials will cost.

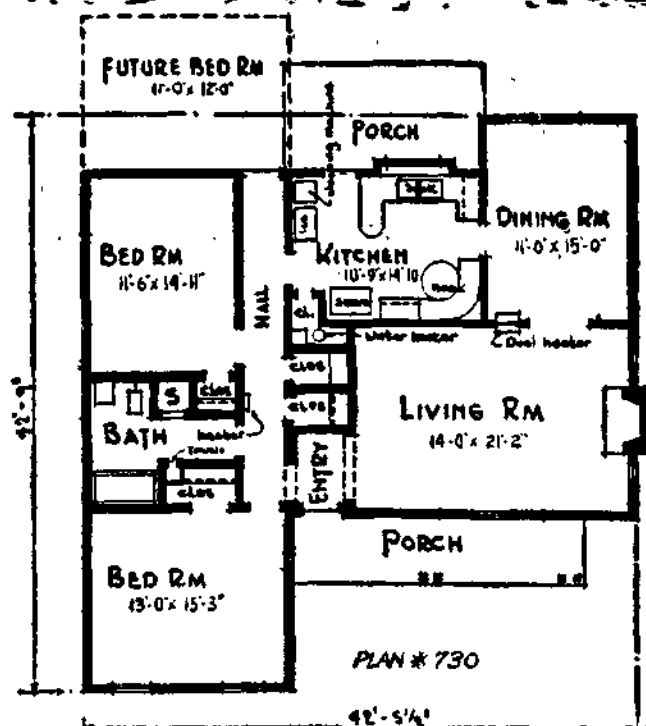

After surfaces are correctly prepared and the necessary tools and accessories are collected, the article says: "It is time to mix and prepare your paint properly so that you will achieve optimum results. In some localities, your dealer will mechanically mix the paint for you."

Proper Type Paint Essential for Toys Used by Children

If you were handed a menu in a restaurant which listed under "foods" such items as wood, household dirt, paint, unpreserved medicine; and, under "drinks" kerosene and oil products, you would be sure the manager had taken leave of his senses. Wise parents are constantly vigilant to see that their young children do not try out such an unhealthy diet. The paint that is originally applied to toys and children's furniture is non-toxic.

Paint, furniture and toy manufacturing industries watch this matter very carefully. When refinishing such items, be sure to use an interior enamel that does not contain lead pigments.

Bedroom Easily Added

A CALIFORNIA DESIGN for a house without a basement, this plan has expansion possibilities. A future bedroom is easily added at the rear. This is Plan 730 by J. Lloyd Conlich, architect, 393 Market St., San Francisco 5, Calif. As built, the house has wide redwood siding and stucco exterior, oversize brick chimney and a shake roof. Two wall furnaces provide heat. The house covers 1,340 square feet.

YOUR HOME... Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

There is something extremely satisfactory and appropriate about a sturdy wood table for either the porch, lawn or patio. When painted white or other matching color, it goes well with wrought-iron furniture; when stained and varnished, with rustic furniture. Above all it is very easy to make and inexpensive.

The table shown here is made entirely of ordinary, sanded one-inch by four-inch finishing strip. It is nailed together with two-inch galvanized wire nails. No bolts, nuts, angle-irons or braces are used and it is as sturdy as an old oak ship.

To make the table, first decide upon the size you want and then construct a plain frame, as shown running around under the top strips. Next, decide on a suitable height, and cut eight pieces to size. Nail two together at right angles to make the four legs. These are nailed to the inside corners of the frame aligned with the top edge of the frame. Lastly, lay the top strips which form the table top and nail into the top edge of the frame. The job should take any handy man about an hour or two.

For those who want something a bit better, heavier lumber can be used and the parts assembled with galvanized screws instead of nails. Very interesting effects can be developed by painting the legs and frame white and staining the top strips mahogany and then varnishing them.

It is important to note that the top strips are spaced a quarter of an inch apart. This prevents accumulation of water on the top and promotes rapid drying.

Home Construction Material Important In Choosing Paint

When you're buying white paint for the exterior trim of your house, be sure to tell your dealer what material was used in the construction of the body of the house.

The self-cleansing type of exterior white paint can be used on the trim of a house only when the body is also painted white. Where a house is of unpainted masonry—or of a color different than the trim—use an exterior enamel, a trim-and-trillis paint. A house paint that has only a limited degree of self-cleansing also can be used.

Picture Frame Becomes Tray

Unfinished Oak, Ash
Wood Used for Project

A picture frame makes a fine tray.

An attractive bottom can be formed in various ways. One is a clear glass pane secured by thin molding on the back. Or a colorful picture can be used under the glass. By using a backing of tempered hardboard you can lay colorful tiles or a sheet of marbled plastic for the bottom—plastic laminate of the kitchen counter type.

Gordon Oberg, industrial designer, suggests using an unfinished modern frame of oak or ash in required size. His instructions for finishing such a frame follow:

Sand the bare wood smooth with fine production paper and dust thoroughly. For a pickled finish, apply a coat of white shellac enamel, dip a rag in alcohol and rub off the surplus, leaving the pigment in the pores of the wood.

When this has dried, rub it lightly with fine steel wool and dust it again. Then apply two coats of 5-pound pure white shellac, cut half and half with alcohol. Let the last coat dry overnight.

This finish is then sanded lightly with very fine production paper and dusted. A thin coat of good paste wax is then put on and let dry for at least an hour. Then buff and you have a professional looking finish.

PAINT SPATTERS

When you're painting, clean up any stray spatters as they occur. Keep a damp cloth handy—one that's moistened with water, if you're using a water-base paint, or one that's been dampened with turpentine or mineral spirits, if you're working with an oil base coating material.

Fights Bugs Garden Hose Attachment Aids Handyman in Yard

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

How to put off home care and repair jobs isn't much of a problem at this time of the year. The handyman who isn't taking off on a vacation trip suddenly discovers that the backyard is an important part of his home. This is how we happened to discover a new spray gadget you'll be interested in if you're battling bugs in your garden.

It's a nonbreakable plastic attachment for the garden hose with a refillable chamber for insecticide and fungicide pellets. It's engineered in such a way that the water mixes the spray in just the right proportion so you have no pumping to do. An extension tube on the end of the device reaches the undersides of leaves and low growing plants without compelling you to stand on your head.

WE FOUND the invention in a hardware store and gave it a trial. It certainly takes the guesswork out of spray mixing. We sprayed roses and fruit trees all at the same time because the nozzle is adjustable from a fine fog spray to a stream reaching 20 to 30 feet up.

The hardware man pointed out that the ingredients include the new basic chemicals recommended by the agricultural schools—malathion, methoxychlor, captan, zineb, etc. He suggested that we try it for killing gnats and mosquitoes in the lawn before guests arrive for a barbecue, but we'll have to build the barbecue pit first.

ANOTHER ITEM that caught our eye on that trip to the hardware store was a new adjustable door bumper that calls for no holes to drill. You merely remove the spindle from a hinge, then reinsert the spindle through the bumper arm. A sort of inverted "Y" arrangement holds one rubber tip against the door while the other rubber bumps on the door jamb.

It's a nifty way to prevent a door knob from mashing wallpaper or marring furniture. One arm of the "Y" is adjustable so the door can be allowed to open just so far and no more.

THE POPULARITY of so-called ranch houses and a growing preference for keeping natural wood grained appearances on exteriors has brought about a new paint for rough wood surfaces outdoors. This is not a stain and does not contain creosote. Yet it preserves wood grained appearances while coating them with a fully pigmented color.

The manufacturers call this a shake and shingle finish. Its pigmentation provides an effective coating against all kinds of weathering without hiding the wood texture, which is necessarily lost when a lustrous conventional house paint is used. You can apply it with roller, brush or spray.

6-Month Building Contracts Second High, Dodge Says

CLEVELAND—Contract awards for future construction in Ohio (except the southwest corner) had the second highest dollar volume for the first six months of any year according to totals of Dodge Reports.

The first-half of 1954 figure was $549,234,000, 18 per cent below the 1953 figure.

Individual categories compared with 1953 at the six month mark: nonresidential at $208,532,000 was down 46 per cent; residential at $231,699,000 was up 22 per cent; heavy engineering, at $109,663,000 was up 20 per cent.

The June construction award total of $81,596,000 was down 31 per cent from May and was down 10 per cent from June 1953.

Individual June classifications were: Nonresidential, $23,976,000 down 31 per cent from May and down 23 per cent from June 1953; residential, $38,748,000, down 22 per cent from May but up 22 per cent over June 1953; heavy engineering, $18,872,000, down 45 per cent from May and down 33 per cent from June 1953.

Aid for the Ailing House

Q: I have been adding to the work-saving devices in my 50-year-old house and happened to mention a new dish washer to my insurance man. He advised me to have my entire wiring system checked by an electrician because I might be running the risk of fire due to overloaded circuits. Is this true?

A: I agree completely with your insurance man. Many electrical appliances have come into common use only comparatively recently, such as washers, fans, electric blankets, ranges, heating pads, TV sets, etc., which all demand more current than was planned when houses, especially the older ones, were built. This causes a far bigger strain on the wiring than was originally anticipated, and could lead to a fire-producing breakdown. For safety's sake, I recommend competent inspection of your wiring, and the addition of any new circuits indicated.

Q: Can you tell me if there is a material which can be used to cover painted cement blocks so that they can be plastered? And where I can buy it?

A: Ordinary plaster cannot be applied over concrete block that has been painted. There is, however, a special bonding material that could be used on the existing surface to hold plaster. It is comparatively new and you still may not be able to find it in stock at your local masonry material yard, although it is well worth a try. There is, however, a plaster-like composition that is applied with a trowel which is better known, good, and should be available through your local masonry dealer.

Q: I have a hot water heating system and would like to know if it is advisable to drain the entire system and flush out the boiler each year or leave the water in the boiler and only add to it when necessary.

A: It is not wise to change the water in the heating system every year. The reason for this is that when water has been re-heated many times the air has been driven off, thus reducing the corrosive action on the radiators, piping and boiler. At the beginning of the heating season it is advisable to draw off several gallons of water to remove sediment from the bottom of the boiler. Fresh water is then added. After three to four years of usage it would be best to use a boiler cleaning compound in order to remove hardened sediment and other foreign matter that might get into the system. (Consolidated News Features, Inc.)

In the Middle Ages, the use of certain furs for garments was almost a badge of office—for instance, the use of ermine by judges.

Boiler Makers Now Producing House Coolers

Manufacturers Enter Field To Give Service Throughout the Year

An increasingly large number of manufacturers, whose products have in the past been confined to boilers and radiators, are now entering the summer cooling field in order to be in a position to offer year-around heating and cooling, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

While some manufacturers are concentrating their efforts on the production of units which can be used for both heating and cooling, others are making window-type coolers and package heating-cooling units, the Bureau points out.

A number of manufacturers are offering room units resembling convectors which contain both heating and cooling coils. The same piping system connects the units with the boiler for heating and with a water chiller for summer cooling.

The heating-cooling units can be installed in all rooms of the house to provide complete summer cooling or they can be used in only one or two rooms. Studies at the University of Illinois, carried on under the sponsorship of The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers, have shown that a good cooling job can be done by a relatively small number of units located throughout the house.

Homes heated with hot water or steam may also be cooled by units which operate independently of the heating system. These may be of the window type, or if preferred, they may be a cabinet type of unit which resembles a convector in appearance. Individual room units contain all equipment, including the compressor and condensing unit.

Short Lengths Of Hardwoods Now Available

Consultant for Maple Group Says Flooring Gives Unique Designs

It is now possible to install attractive floors in residences with short lengths of the better hardwoods, according to Miss Dorothy Clarke, Consultant on interior decoration to the Maple Flooring Manufacturers Association.

Miss Clarke said the short lengths of hardwood flooring, manufactured in identically the same manner as the standard lengths, consist of pieces too short to include in the standard length bundles. "These short lengths, however, are perfectly matched pieces, providing the same strength, durability and smoothness as the longer standard lengths," she explained.

"Short lengths permit blending of mellow tones and provide a floor of unique and individual beauty. There is no monotonous sameness of pattern and the strips present, in the residence floor, a pleasing artistic regularity," she said.

"Professional floor-layers point out that there is no trick to the laying procedure and that the cost of laying all short lengths compares favorably with the cost of laying the regular standard lengths. The amateur, too, can lay the short lengths without difficulty. He should, of course, use the right type of non-splitting nail and have a certain know-how in the matter of laying out the courses," she said.

'Sociable' Kitchen Shown

THE KITCHEN as the social hub of the home, adaptable as a combination hobby room, dining room or family room, was featured in a recent display at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. A model setup designed by Jules Marling, architect, was part of a hardwood exhibit. Striped pialdo wood paneling for walls and cabinets, hickory plank-type plywood with simulated pegs for flooring, built-in copper finished oven and separate gas burner were among features.

Scientist Says Food Dye May Cause Cancers

SAO PAULO, Brazil (U)—Some dyes or other chemicals added to our foods might cause certain forms of cancer, a British scientist today told representatives of 54 nations here to study ways of fighting the scourge.

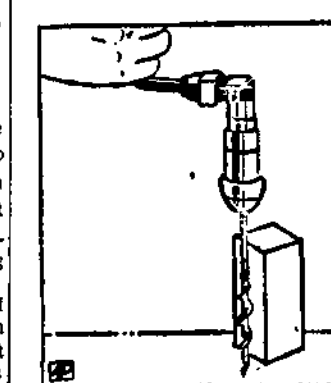

Dr. Eric Boyland, biochemist of London University, told the Sixth International Cancer Congress that numerous chemicals put in foods deserve a closer look for possible cancer effects.

It is a tough problem, Boyland said, to tell whether such chemicals cause cancer. He said a dye known as "butter yellow" formerly was used to color oleomargarine but was abandoned when it was found capable of causing cancer in experimental animals. A green dye used in canning peas also was found capable of causing the disease in laboratory animals.

Boyland said two solutions have been suggested. One is to avoid adding any chemicals to foodstuffs. The other is to test each one first in the laboratory. But such tests could cost about $10,000 each and take a long time, he added.

He said the discovery that some chemical products produce cancer in animals doesn't necessarily mean they would do the same in humans. He added, however, that some cases of stomach, liver or bladder cancer might be caused by chemicals in foods.

Drill Aid

TO DRILL a straight hole vertically, it's easy to line up the bit with a corner of a square ended block. The American Home magazine suggests that for a deep hole the block may be removed after the first inch or so.

Cities in Ohio Urged To Take Stock of Water

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—The Ohio Division of Water today warned municipalities to take immediate inventory of their source of water supplies and, if necessary, invoke water conservation measures.

The division predicted ground water supplies and stream flow in the state will be at a record low level by late summer.

The division said during the seven months, October 1953 through April 1954, rainfall was 4.32 inches below normal, and as a result there was far less recharge to ground water than is normally expected.

Ohio has passed the period when any ground water recharge can be expected, the division added, saying that from now until fall both ground water levels and stream flow can be expected to decline.

Municipalities with surface water supplies from reservoirs were warned that stream flow into reservoirs will be at near record low so they may expect the greater proportion of daily consumption will come from storage.

Reservoirs may be full now, the division said, but unless the storage is enough to make up for the deficiency in stream flow there may not be water enough to meet the anticipated demands of the next few months.

Municipalities were urged to institute water savings measures now and plan for supplemental supplies before a crisis arises.

NEW HOSPITAL DEDICATED

CLEAN GUTTERS

Before painting the outside of your house, clean out gutters and downspouts. They should, of course, be cleaned at intervals during the year and especially at the end of winter. Gutters that are clogged permit moisture to get behind walls or under the roof, thus causing expensive damage.

Political mudslinging was literal in ancient Rome says the National Geographic Society; the candidates wore white togas and people threw mud at them when they were unpopular.

Keep comfortable. Keep well. Keep your present furnace or boiler if it's sound, but convert it to automatic gas heat with a GORDON SPREADER-FLAME BURNER. No more quick temperature changes. No furnace labor. Low first cost. Low operating cost. Long life. Come in for a demonstration.

Growing Pains

Animals and Birds Give Headaches to Gardeners

By ALBERT S. FULLING
Associated Press Writer

Anyone's garden can become a Who's Zoo.

In case you haven't noticed (and if so you're lucky), there can be as much motion in a seemingly placid garden as there is in a hula dancer in full moon.

Some of the garden movement is beneficial — and some of it adds to mormal garden difficulties.

Take rabbits, for instance (take them a long way away if you want). The little bunnies can go through a row of young snap beans like a vacuum cleaner just before company is expected. They'll wind up well fed—but you won't.

They'll go through or under almost any sort of enclosure. There are various ways of combating the menace: You can trap 'em, shoot 'em, scare 'em, poison 'em or the like. But each of these methods has peculiar disadvantages which soon become evident with experience.

AS ONE REMEDY, therefore you might invite the basset hound down to visit with the rabbits and help earn her keep. She sets up a great whoop and holler, runs her little bow-legs off and once in a long while might come up with a rabbit. But the havoc also is raised by the pooch nosing through the vegetable rows—it's almost as bad as those of Brer Rabbit.

And when the basset tires, she rambles up to the cool, soft-matched flower bed and reclines against some choice plants which to her are better than the chaise longue. There you get more damage.

THEN YOU MIGHT have deer. The does do many bucks worth of damage—there aren't too many bucks you can try a deer fence around the garden, but family farm experience has been that a deer can get over a five-foot fence easier than you can step a curb in slippery weather.

Add to this a few cats. They ostensibly are kept around to keep after the mice population in the barn area, but the pussycats do their own browsing and digging around some of your choice seedlings.

And you might have moles. They'll give you a weird zigzag pattern along your surface areas—and keep you from getting bored while they bore your ground.

Even the birds, which you so lovingly feed and water the year round, utter and chirp their ecstasy over your cherry trees if you're not quick, they'll have the fruit before you, leaving a neat pile of cherry pits in the bird bath for you to mourn over.

ONE FRIEND tried to outwit his busy, hungry feathered friends by using a cloth bag around a few remaining cherries in a tree. But he lost. The bag were there in the morning . . . the cherries were gone.

Add to these a few assorted squirrels, chipmunks, woodchucks, skunks and whatever seems to inhabit your garden neighborhood—plus the normal allotment of insects and perhaps even a snake or two.

You've got a lively place. One attitude you can take—and we've found the philosophy is somewhat soothing:

Plant enough for everyone, man and beast. Then keep discouraging the beast from your garden as best you can.

Just don't let him discourage you.

Goodyear-Union Talks in Recess

CLEVELAND (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the CIO United Rubber Workers have recessed until Monday their negotiations to settle a strike of 23,000 workers. During the past five days of the talks, no progress was reported.

The union's international president, L. S. Buckmaster, yesterday answered a statement by the company president which said the union discriminated against Goodyear workers by calling them out on strike and not striking U.S. Rubber Co. and other big producers.

Buckmaster said Goodyear was the first to challenge the union's wage demands, and should be the first to "bargain in good faith." He said it was "quite possible" big rubber companies "planned their strategy so as to have 100,000 of our members out in the streets at the same time."

WOMAN FATALY HURT
MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Georgia Brady, 38, of Covington, Ky., returning home from an Indiana vacation with her husband, was injured fatally yesterday when their car overturned on U.S. 27 near here.

City Planners Offer Advice On Turnpikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—City planners in areas which may be affected by the proposed Cincinnati-Conneaut super toll road want the Ohio Turnpike Commission and the state highway department to listen to their suggestions.

Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus and Akron were represented at a meeting here, called at the request of H. S. Wagner, a member of the Summit County Planning Commission and director of the Akron Metropolitan Park System.

Proctor Noyes, director of the Cuyahoga County Regional Planning Commission, presided.

An attitude prevailed at the session which seemed to indicate the Ohio Turnpike Commission may run into some difficulties in building turnpike if it does not seek the advice and help of local planners.

The planners were seeking ways to make themselves heard on the matter of the states second super toll road. James Lister, director of the Cleveland Planning Commission said:

"On the No. 1 turnpike (the northern Ohio Turnpike) we were not allowed to talk to anyone until it was too late. I have a suspicion the same thing will happen on turnpike No. 2."

"We don't want to tell them where to locate the turnpike. We want to offer our advice, we can be of tremendous assistance to them."

The state highway department has cancelled a series of meetings next week with local authorities to discuss the proposed location of the second turnpike. Highway Director S. O. Linzell said the New York consulting engineering firm plotting a mile-wide strip diagonally across Ohio will not have the proposed location strip finished for several more weeks.

DANIEL FINED $500
DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Allen P. Daniel, 29, of Norfolk, Va., was fined $500 and costs yesterday for the felonious assault of a 15-year-old inmate of the Delaware Girls Industrial School, where Daniel was a cottage parent.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT FEALE

Living Is an Exciting Experience

Is life an exciting experience for you? Are you fascinated by people and by things? Can you honestly characterize yourself as an "agor" person? Have you mastered the art of getting a great thrill out of life no matter how old you are or how heavily burdened?

If your answer to any of these questions is in the negative, you're not getting what you should out of life. It is hard to understand how anyone can be dull or apathetic, living in this dynamic age. How can anyone possibly be unmoved and unthrilled by it all. It seems incredible that this amazing world should fail to evoke enthusiastic response in anyone.

I GET A GREAT thrill out of going to the circus at least once every year. And this year I was the guest of my friend, Beverly Kelly, one of the "big show" famous publicity men. He is a very busy person and handles a multitude of details. "Beverly," I asked him, "do you enjoy this job? How long have you been at it?"

"Twenty-eight years," he answered. "And, as for enjoying it, it's a lot better than working." That is one of the most thrilling remarks I have ever heard a man make about his job.

Recently Arturo Toscanini, great music master, retired. At 87, he was still conducting orchestra with unsurpassed skill and genius. "Whatever my father is doing," his son explains, "whether it is tackling a new symphony or peeling an orange, it is the biggest moment of his life."

AND THE THERE is another old friend, Branch Rickey, head of the Pittsburgh Pirates, now 72. A reporter asked him, "Mr. Rickey, what was your greatest thrill in 50 years of baseball?" Rickey drew down those great brows of his, thought for a minute, looked out at the players on the field and answered: "My greatest thrill in 50 years I have not had it yet."

These are men who are living to their fingertips. They have learned how to keep alive, how to be perpetually thrilled and fascinated. They know the meaning of the greatest formula of living ever spoken, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

THAT'S THE WAY we all want to be, isn't it? Why, then, aren't we all that way? And how can we get to be that way?

It's a simple proposition. One reason that the thrill, the zest, the rapture, the fascination, the flavor and the joy of life depart, is because we allow ourselves to become so burdened down, so overwhelmed with a mass of things. An old lady I once knew put it very neatly when she commented, "Life is so daily."

You get up in the morning and go through the routine and infinite minute of the day. You worry about things, become plagued by anxieties and dwell under a haunting sense of frustration. That's the unhappy way many of us live, and of course this is depressing and completely unexciting.

BUT THERE ARE people who don't get that way. They seem to have a constant infusion of energy and enthusiasm. They carry life's burdens easily. What is their secret? I have known many such people. They find their insatiable curiosity, eager interest and unquenchable zest in spiritual experience. It may be described in a line from the Bible, "In Him we live and move and have our being." When a person really finds God, he finds life that is perpetually interesting and exciting.

School Teacher At Kenton Gets Overseas Duty

Miss Barbara Bradford of Kenton has been selected by the Department of the Army for overseas civilian employment with the U. S. Army Forces, Far East Command, as an elementary school teacher, according to Col. John F. Phelan, commanding officer at the Marion Engineer Depot. She is scheduled to arrive in the overseas command late in August, and will be given her permanent assignment, which is expected to be somewhere in Japan.

Miss Bradford will teach the children of military and civilian personnel employed by the U. S. Armed Forces. Her contract calls for a 12-month tour of duty. The Kenton teacher is presently being processed by the personnel office at the Depot.

A graduate of Ohio State University, receiving her degree in education in 1946, Miss Bradford has taught in the Kenton and Ashland city school systems. She has been active in the Camp Fire Girls Organization since 1945 and has been counselor, unit head and assistant director in the Cleveland and Chicago areas.

Fellowship Group To Visit Dearborn

Traveling to Dearborn, Mich., Wednesday, Epworth Methodist Intermediate Youth Fellowship members will take a sightseeing tour of the famous Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. The trip will be made by chartered bus, and the 25 young people in the party will leave from the church here at 7 a.m.

Adults accompanying them will include Miss Margaret Huffman, Mrs. John Clark, and Mrs. M. M. Giles.

The noon meal will be a sack lunch, and in the evening the group plans to eat at the museum snack bar. Committee chairmen for the event include Jerry Maddox, transportation; Patty Fetter, finance; and Karen Pate, general arrangements. John Eyster is president of the group.

Time set for arrival at the museum is 11 a.m. Remainder of the day will be spent visiting the three main sections, Fine Arts Galleries, Street of Early American Shops, and Mechanical Arts Hall exhibits, and the 200-acre village of historic homes, shops, schools, mills, stores and laboratories. The trip is a part of the Youth Fellowship summer activities program.

Benefit Ice Cream Social To Be Held at Claridon

"Biggest ice cream social of the year" at Claridon, a benefit event, has been set for Thursday night at the school.

The two sponsoring organizations, the Claridon Community Club and United Grange, have joined in this one effort for the purpose of raising funds for the religious education program in the school and for school improvements. Howard Mitchell is president of the club and Russell Wickensham is Grange master.

Special feature of entertainment will be numbers by the high school band under supervision of Mrs. Robert Waldbauer, new music instructor. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. All items on the varied menu which will include 100 gallons of ice cream, will be donated. The social will be held in the school yard or in the school building in case of unfavorable weather.

With Unveiled Face

A Sermonette

By REV. MARTIN L. DOLBEER
Pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church

II Cor. 3:18. "We all, beholding with unveiled face the glory of the Lord, are being changed into his likeness . . . through the Lord the Spirit . . ."

Here St. Paul is giving us the secret of spiritual transformation. It is a process, a growth. It is a growth in Christ-likeness. It is a work done within us by the Holy Spirit.

But what does the phrase about "an unveiled face" mean? Are we to feel that the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ is somehow hidden behind a veil? A mystery, and we are to pray to see his glory unveiled for us? Not at all. There is no cloud hiding the glory of Christ our Savior.

THE VEIL PAUL refers to is a veil over our own eyes. It is a cloud over our own minds. In verse 16, he writes of the Jews that there is a "veil over their minds." And a few verses ahead he writes (Chapter 4:4) "The god of this world has blinded the minds of unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light . . ."

This is the veil that must be removed in order that we may truly see and be transformed. Perhaps you remember the old tale read years ago. There was a young king ruling well his kingdom, while his people were prosperous and contented. But there was an evil fairy who hated the king and was determined to ruin him. This fairy stole the young king's spectacles one night and replaced them with a pair identical in appearance but possessed with a fatal power. Whoever looked through them would think he was seeing clearly enough, — but actually everything would appear perverted, changed, — no longer as it really was.

A smile would look like a sneer, friendship appear fawning servility, flattery seem like honest praise. From that time on everything went wrong. The young king quarreled with his best advisers and in a short time alienated his people and lost his kingdom.

NOW LOTS OF US have that kind of glasses in front of our eyes. The name of those glasses is self-love. We see everything distorted, twisted out of shape because we look at life through this veil of self-love. Especially do we fail to see ourselves. We never really take a good honest look at ourselves. We are idolaters. We want to love and serve no one but ourselves.

We may put it another way. Men are in the mess they are, not merely because of wrong doing, but even more fundamentally, because of wrong thinking. Men believe in and follow after a lie.

I WAS TOO SATISFIED TO NEED A SAVIOR

THERE are really fewer people than you would realize who are actually satisfied with their lives. When you probe down into most hearts you can find very little happiness, peace or satisfaction. Yet there are some who have a satisfaction born of moral uprightness and integrity, a happy home and a fair degree of the blessings of material prosperity. I was very much like one of these, very content and very satisfied with my lot in life until I realized that there was down inside of me a longing that had never been satisfied. I could not escape from the consciousness that life was made for something more than social contacts and material security.

Down inside, a sense of being right with God was lacking and although superficially content with my lot my soul was not satisfied until one day I learned that God had sent His son in the person of Jesus Christ to die upon the cross of Calvary that I might be reconciled to Him. When I took Jesus Christ as my own personal Savior from sin, I learned the experience of what it really means to be satisfied. Now I am not only happy with my lot in life, but I am satisfied with the confidence that all is right between me and God because Jesus Christ is my Savior.

New Virus Hits Plants, Animals

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Science has found a "hitch-hiker" virus which is transmitted between plants and animals and causes a cancer-like growth in the plant.

Dr. L. M. Black of the University of Illinois said the virus is one of the few to affect both forms of life.

It apparently starts in a plant and then invades flying insects, which light on the plant. Thus, it "hitches a ride" and is carried from plant to plant and from insect to insect.

The many-faceted viruses are about 1-100,000th the size of a pea. Black said, and resemble each other closely in appearance, whether found in the bodies of insects or in the tissues they produce on sweet clover.

Investigation is needed, however, to determine whether they are alike chemically.

Many research workers regard plant viruses as containing ribonucleic acid and animal viruses deoxyribonucleic acid. The question is whether the virus under study contains either or both.

According to Black and his associates Dr. M. K. Blakke and A. E. Vatter, the viruses cause tumors in plants which resemble virus-caused breast cancers in mice.

They haven't been able to determine however whether the viruses cause any disease or damage to the insects.

The insect which carries the virus from plant to plant they said is the leafhopper. Plants grow in complete health beside an infected plant, provide no leafhopper carries the disease to it. Also they said, it is almost impossible to infect a healthy plant by injecting it with virus-contaminated juice from diseased plants.

The virus, the scientists said, must incubate within the insect for two weeks. After its fortnight's "fife ride," it can infect plants when the leafhopper sucks juice from them.

Black said the viruses caused by the virus in the plant consist of wild dividing and multiplying cells. From them, he hopes to learn more concerning cancers in more complex animal systems.

Charcoal, saltpeter and sulphur were mixed to make gunpowder for fireworks long before guns were invented, says the National Geographic Society.

Air Conditioner Unit Placed in Prospect St. Church

Unique System Features An 'Ice Bank' Many Help With Work

By ELAINE BALLINGER

Worship in comfort in the middle of midsummer heat—this is the fortunate lot of one Marion congregation which can boast the city's first air conditioning unit in a church edifice.

Prospect Street Methodist people can claim also the distinction of having the only mechanically refrigerated air circulation in a Methodist church in the state, thanks to an air conditioning enthusiast and a refrigeration engineer members of the congregation.

PROMOTER of the idea was Earl H. Harden who has been known for years as a lover of rigorous cold weather living to the extent of building his own backyard rink for ice skating in summer. The engineer who helped him develop his ice rink is the one who went to work on the church cooling problem.

Robert Boyd, with the approval of the Prospect Street congregation's official board, went to work some time ago to design the system now installed. He donated much after-hours time to the project and supervised the labor with which he has been helped by others who volunteered their assistance.

A member of the American Society of Refrigeration Engineers and local Refrigeration Service Engineers Society, Boyd is refrigeration engineer and assistant service sales manager of the Tecumseh Products Co.'s Marion Division. He is a member of the board of trustees of Prospect Street Church.

PROSPECT STREET METHODIST CHURCH

His Chief Assistants were Robert Clarke, who is employed in the engineering department of Tecumseh Products and his brother, John Boyd, who did all of the electrical work and who is a member of the church official board. He is maintenance foreman at the Green Camp plant of B. F. Goodrich Co.

Sheet metal work was done by Cocheil Tin Shop of Marion and plumbing by Rice Hardware & Appliance Co. of Waldo. A huge tank was fabricated by the Slob and Bice Welding Co. of Marion.

Part of the automatic controls have yet to be installed. A part of the project was replacement of the obsolete wiring with a modern three-phase four-wire electrical system. This included replacement of obsolete switches and main lighting panel.

WHEN MR. HARDEN began his campaign in favor of the air conditioning for the church he contacted members with request for cash and pledges and received more than half the total cost in that manner. Other interested members of the official board and the congregation collected money and pledges in addition. The work progressed as the money came in. Cost of materials was reduced in several cases. Total cost was approximately 2 per cent of the value of the church, or less than $3,000.

When the project was considered originally by the official board it was recognized as a "step into the future." After studying the growth of air conditioning in the last few years it was felt that within the next 10 years many homes in Marion will be air conditioned as have been commercial establishments. Many churches will be installing cooling systems as it becomes more common to consider such summer comfort a "necessity" rather than a luxury.

RESULTING BENEFITS are several-fold. Air conditioning provides not only a comfortable atmosphere for church-goers but eliminates distractions from outside such as the din and clash of traffic which enters through open windows. Thus the worshippers can concentrate more wholeheartedly on the devotions and sermon. It is hoped that visitors and "those without a church home" will be attracted to services by the guaranteed comfort of the atmosphere in the sanctuary and the class rooms.

Above this however is the thought, expressed by the pastor, Rev. Fletcher E. Shoup, "Just one or two people that find God through worshipping with us would be worth the cost of the project."

THE IDEA FOR air conditioned churches is not new because there are more than 3,500 such in the United States, most of them in the southern part of the country, Mr. Boyd has pointed out.

On the financial side, it is figured that on a very hot Sunday, when full capacity of the equipment is needed, the operating cost per week is approximately $4.72. The low operating cost is due to design of the system which does not use water for cooling the condenser, as in conventional air conditioning. The condenser is air cooled, a relatively new trend for units of 5 horsepower.

Design of the system enables the entire church to be air conditioned with the smaller horsepower unit rather than a conventional system with a 25 hp unit which would be required for a business or other place needing all-day cooling. Key to this refrigerating system is an "ice bank" which is built up 24 hours in advance of the time that it is needed for the church services. A compressor is used to refrigerate 10 large metal plates submerged in a tank of water. Approximately 6,700 pounds of ice is frozen.

On Sunday morning a circulating pump forces chilled water from the tank through a cooling coil and back into the tank. At the end of a three-hour run, the ice in the tank is melted, but three hours is ample time for Sunday School and church services to be held.

The fan system used for heating was modified and is used to blow filtered air through the cooling coil, thus cooling the air and forcing it through ducts into the sanctuary. Water and air temperatures are controlled to maintain 80 degrees with 50 per cent relative humidity, a "condition recognized to be the most comfortable for the majority of people," Mr. Boyd explained.

FUNDS DISTRIBUTED COLUMBUS, Ohio U. S. Highway Safety Director U. C. Felt says the first distribution of funds to counties under the new Wheeler Law totaled $3,329,873. The law sponsored by Rep. Charles O. Wheeler (R-Morrow) provides for distribution of nine per cent of all motor vehicle registration fees to counties and payment of five per cent to townships on a mileage basis.

A discarded match or cigaret was blamed for a small loss fire at the residence of Harry Adams at 526 N. Greenwood St. at 2:30 p. m. Friday. The firemen reported no one was home when they arrived. They said they found a pasteboard box full of clothing burning in an upstairs room but the fire had not spread. Only loss was to a few articles of clothing burned in the box, they said.

How does Duncan Hines vote his approval of eating places?

For many years he has traveled the length and breadth of the land. Literally hundreds of thousands of men and women have come to believe that he really knows the best places to dine in every state of the Union. His checking system is simple. 1st. Is the eating place spotlessly clean? 2nd. Does the food taste good? 3rd. Are the prices fair for service and food served? We are proud to be listed as the only place in Marion that has Mr. Hines' O. K. Have Sunday dinner with us this week.

'High and Mighty' Current Feature At Ohio Theater

Currently playing through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater is "The High and the Mighty" which stars John Wayne, Claire Trevor, Laraine Day, Robert Stack, Jan Sterling, Phil Harris, Robert Newton and David Brian.

Wayne is cast as the co-pilot of a Trans-Orient Pacific Airlines plane which takes off from Honolulu airport and halfway to its destination loses one of its motors. The emergency unmasks the emotions and true characters of the passengers and the crew as Wayne is the plane toward San Francisco, hoping by the barest of chances the scant gasoline will hold out.

Playing Thursday through Saturday will be "Monster From the Ocean Floor" and "The Desperado," which stars Wayne Morris. The former features Anne Kimbrell and Stuart Wade.

"Monster From the Ocean Floor" concerns a huge sea creature that terrorizes a fishing village where a girl skin-diver and a marine biologist in a one-man submarine explore the ocean floor seeking the monster.

"The Desperado" portrays Texas during 1870-1873 when the state was under the massive thumb of a carpetbag government headed by a northerner, E. J. Davis. In the governor's chair, he ruled through a state police organization responsible only to him and all men who opposed it were considered to be criminals. Morris portrays one of those rebels, a man hunted and branded as a professional killer, in the picture.

Hudson, Wyman Are Stars of Film At Palace Theater

Now playing through Wednesday at the Palace Theater is "Magnificent Obsession," starring Rock Hudson and Jane Wyman.

The picture concerns a woman's great need of the man she has most reason to hate, a man who has almost destroyed her life. An accident to wastrel Hudson requires use of the only resuscitator in the area, a resuscitator owned by Dr. Wayne Phillips, who perishes from a sudden heart attack when he is denied the benefit of that equipment. Hudson's reckless pursuit of Miss Wyman, Dr. Phillips' widow, also results in an automobile injury and apparent blindness to her. Out of Hudson's devotion to Miss Wyman in an effort to undo his lifetime of wrong comes the magnificent obsession.

Featured Thursday through Saturday will be "Silver Lode," technicolor movie starring John Payne, Elizabeth Scott and Dan Duryea, and "Return to Treasure Island." The latter, in color, stars Tab Hunter and Dawn Addams.

Payne is cast in the former as a rancher whose wedding day becomes riddled with bullets when a United States marshal interrupts the marriage ceremony to charge him with a cowardly killing. Payne has three hours to prove his innocence and to uncover Duryea, cast as the marshal, as a desperado with a lying tongue bent on revenge.

"Return to Treasure Island" concerns Jamesina Hawkins, Miss Addams, a direct descendant of Jim Hawkins, hero of Stevenson's "Treasure Island," who is in possession of maps and records showing just where the famous treasure is buried. A phony archaeologist nearly succeeds in tricking her into turning over her information but he is thwarted when Hunter, the true archaeologist, appears on the scene.

'Prisoner of War' One Of Features at Marion

Playing at the Marion Theater Sunday and Monday will be "Prisoner of War" and "Canadian Pacific" which stars Randolph Scott, Jane Wyatt, J. Carroll Nash, Victor Jory and Nancy Olson.

People's Right To Know

If one cardinal principle had been followed in all congressional investigations, there would be no problem now about proper procedures. Instead of trying to prescribe what these should be in the future, congressmen might agree on what they should have been in the past.

A congressional investigating committee exercises a power that has been delegated to it by the House of Representatives or the U. S. Senate. These two bodies, in turn, derive their power from the sovereign people of the United States.

Thus, an investigating committee is exercising the people's right to know the facts about a wide variety of subjects. The Constitution places no restrictions on its range of interest. But there is a restriction on the way it uses its range — a restriction imposed by the composition of Congress under the two-party system of government.

Each committee has a majority and a minority. It is a bipartisan committee. Each major political party bears direct responsibility for the committee's work. Yet, through neglect and indifference, many congressional investigating committees have been allowed to function on a personal basis.

One member of Congress, usually but not always the committee chairman, has been allowed to use committee funds, personnel and prestige without consulting the other members. This would be inexcusable for other congressional committees. It is inexcusable for investigating committees.

Representative democracy is a technique of government that is still in the process of development. While congressmen are studying the methods of investigation, their constituents would do well to study the methods of congressmen — such as the method of concealing neglect by proposing reforms that wouldn't be needed if they had done what they were supposed to do in the first place.

Age-Old Solution

We are told that every action eventually produces a reaction. If this is true, then surely the great revival of religious interest in the United States today is the inevitable reaction to the world in which we have been living.

The world in which we have been living is a world of continuous war tension, a casualness toward murder and careless killing, an indifference to family responsibility and resultant delinquency, a prevalence of sex crimes, thievery and drug addiction. It's a world infiltrated with the godlessness of Communism. The reaction to that world is a world in which church membership and attendance have reached an all-time high, religious books are popular best sellers, religious movies set box office records, lay retreats and Bible camps attract hundreds of thousands annually.

We've tried just about everything else in our lifetime — peace pacts, treaties, trade agreements, compromise, negotiation, hot wars, cold wars and appeasement. Perhaps we are ready now to turn, after characteristic reluctance, to that which is the easiest and simplest of all solutions to our problems . . . religion.

Budget Trimming

While observers are keeping score on pledges kept or broken by the Eisenhower administration, it should be pointed out that the budget requests made this year and the appropriations of the second session of the 83rd Congress have followed a downward trend.

President Eisenhower asked for 44.7 billion dollars last January. Congress has appropriated 43.2 billion, cutting the requested total by 1.5 billion. One or two items remain to be acted on, but the total is an accurate reflection of the budget-trimming trend in Washington.

To go back a little, it should be remembered that President Truman had asked for 68.6 billion dollars in the budget message he delivered before Eisenhower became president in January, 1952. This was trimmed by the new administration to 59.1 billion in a revised budget message. Congress wound up by appropriating 54.6 billion, a cut of 4.5 billion in Eisenhower's figure and a cut in Truman's request of 14 billion.

Something Went Wrong

There is a loose end about the warfare in Indochina that should be tied up. It's the prediction made last spring about what the monsoon was going to do to military action.

Beginning in mid-May, according to the prediction, so much rain would fall that everybody and everything would be bogged down in mud and mire. Thus, the grand strategy of the French would be to hold out until this happened, then mark time until fall.

Suddenly, a great many things fell on the French and their friends in Indochina. But they were enemy shells, demands for unconditional surrender and other hammer blows of military adversity.

No rain has been mentioned. It has not been spoken of in dispatches from the front. Something went wrong. It must be the same thing that goes wrong when there is unusual weather at summer resorts — the thing that causes natives to wag their heads solemnly and aver, "Nothing like this ever happened before. This is the most unusual weather we've ever had around here."

Behind TVA Curtain

Communism Hides Under Public Ownership Blind

Although not outwardly identifiable as clearly as the socialist groups that have broken up European parliaments, the Congress of the United States in the session now at its climax is also revealing deep-seated cleavages of an ideological nature.

On the surface, the controversy over whether to tax corporations twice — once when the profits are confiscated at a rate of 52 percent and once when the stockholder gets his dividend and pays a second tax — is supposed to be a contest "between rich and poor."

That's what the demagogues would have the public believe, but actually it is a contest between those who would confiscate the savings of the workman and those who would stimulate thrift and give private capitalism a much needed stimulus.

Unless investors have incentives for employing their funds as risk capital in American enterprises, the government — the state — must provide the capital. That's the road to state socialism and Hitlerism. Yet the "left wing," which professes such an abhorrence of everything Hitlerlike is behind the drive to prevent the encouragement of private investors.

THE INVESTOR who buys bonds pays an income tax on the interest he receives, but he can invest in tax-exempt municipal or state bonds. As for corporate bonds, companies get a deduction for the interest they pay out. In this way the creation of more and more debt has been encouraged, whereas the use of risk capital has been discouraged because the corporations get no deduction for dividend payments — the sums they pay out for the use of capital.

America has been built up by risk capital. The investor in the early years of this country's development took a chance on the success or failure of an enterprise and, if it was successful, he got a reward commensurate with his risk.

In recent years risk capital has been increasingly hard to find for the use of American business. For new enterprises, it has been even harder to get. Most new enterprises have been launched by already existing large companies with fat treasuries — an encouragement to monopoly and a discouragement to competition by smaller companies with inadequate capital.

In contrast to the socialistic trend under the New Deal and the Fair Deal, the Eisenhower administration set out to recognize in the new tax law the basic idea that a dividend payment should have some tax relief for the investor. While the amount is, relatively small, the new bill just out of conference does recognize the principle of opposition to double taxation. It will give a lift to American enterprise and mean more jobs for the workers in existing businesses and more businesses that will create new jobs. Yet there are many Democrats and a few Republicans who take a demagogic view and would stifle the incentives that help private enterprise.

THE SAME IDEOLOGICAL prejudice has arisen on the issue of public versus private power. About 30 years ago the American people were told that rivers should be opened to navigation and that whatever by-products in electric power became available would be incidental. Warnings against this deception went unheeded, and now the Tennessee Valley Authority has become a major public-power development. Many taxpayers in the north and west and east are taxed heavily to pay for a local power development that serves only one region. If this principle were applied fairly to other sections of the country where rivers could be used to generate power, it would put the government in the power business on a national scale.

The debate in the Senate this week about atomic power involves the same basic question. If atomic energy is to be solely a government development, then the state will control many business enterprises directly or indirectly. Instead of leasing the facilities to the highest bidders and letting private capital do the job — and surely the government with taxes out of its profits — there are some Republicans and many Democrats who believe in the government-ownership doctrine. They would deny that they want the government to own everything.

THERE ISN'T much difference between putting the government in the power business and putting it into the food-store business or in the management of department stores and other retail enterprises. Then almost everybody would be employed by the government, as in Soviet Russia.

At a time when the budget is strained and taxes are high, there are some members of Congress who want the government to make large outlays for power plants of all kinds.

The Eisenhower administration's view is that private business — which pays taxes on its profits — should have the opportunity to do that work and that the state should get out of private business and stay out.

It would be an interesting issue for the campaign, for, if they fully understood, the American people would promptly reject the doctrine of state socialism which so often have led to paths of Communism and an all-powerful state. (N. Y. Herald Tribune)

Playing It Cool

By TRUMAN TWILL

Whenever the lady who runs the commissary at our place dredges up a turkey, an elderberry pie, or a duck from the freezer it makes an old ice man wonder what cometh next.

When I peddled ice, the newest thing in refrigeration was artificial ice. My company sold natural ice cut off a lake in the ice-harvesting season and claimed the artificial substitute was not as cold as the real thing. We really thought so.

What we did not discuss was the dirtiness of the real ice compared with the cakes of pure blue, artificial ice being sold by the opposition. Actually, it didn't matter much at the time because everybody was so pleased to have refrigeration in summertime they didn't care where the ice came from or what it left behind when it melted. When winter came, the ice boxes were moved to the back porch and nature took over.

Only a few years before, the only summertime cooling was the temperature in the cellar or a window box with a wet cloth thrown over it on torrid days. Butter melted and milk soured. All perishable food had to be bought and eaten on the same day. A piece of ice was a luxury. They used to ship ice all the way from inland lakes in the United States to the Atlantic Coast. Sometimes they even shipped it to the Orient, where it was worth its weight in gold.

Today, almost everybody who wants it has mechanical refrigeration. Food is filed away like documents in a filing cabinet. Households equipped with freezers have as much choice of what to eat as would be true in most restaurants. The lady who operates the commissary at our house had five kinds of ice cream available the other night.

One recent weekend she announced there would be turkey for Sunday dinner. The turkey had been left over, from Christmas. When elderberries are ripe, there is an elderberry pie project or make a year's supply. Bread is purchased in lots of a dozen loaves and taken out of the freezer as needed, as fresh as it was when it was baked.

Everything from scallops to hamburgers is on tap, depending on supply and demand, also on means and desire. Everybody who uses refrigeration in this modern manner concedes it is an invitation to eat more and to eat better. But it also is a means of eating more and better at a saving in cost per pound, if the commissary department is alert for bargains.

We used to tell the natural ice customers when they wanted to talk about the crazy contraptions that made things cold with machinery that the machines would never beat ice. It looked that way, while the engineers were getting rid of the mechanical bugs. But today the ice people make their product with machines — and are doing all right at it, too.

All of which is a sure way to produce nostalgia in a former ice man who remembers how the old ladies would ask for an extra chunk of ice to make lemonade, figuring it would be thrown in for nothing. It usually was, too — along with the chunks that were knocked off "accidentally" for good will among kids who clustered around the back steps of the ice wagon in the shade at the curb.

People get hotter under the collar year by year but the world has learned to play it cool as far as refrigeration is concerned.

Great Budget Mystery

By Raymond Moley

When two intelligent and conservative men like Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Sen. Byrd differ fundamentally about a matter of financial policy, it is not strange that the layman is confused about what is happening to his tax dollars. Incidentally, both of these gentlemen have the confidence and admiration of the President, for both were offered the job of treasury secretary.

A year ago the secretary asked that the debt limit of 275 billion dollars be raised. The senator objected and Congress sustained him. Time proved the senator to be right. Now again the secretary asks that the limit be raised, to 290 billion dollars and the senator objects once more.

He points out that the Treasury, on June 30, finished the year with an overhanging debt of 270.8 billion dollars which leaves the secretary more than four billions of space under the present ceiling. The predicted deficit for the current fiscal year is 2.9 billion dollars.

It would seem to the observer that Byrd is right again. Still it is hard to accuse the secretary either of ignorance or of an itch for profligate spending. The difference in viewpoint is in the wholly uncertain amount that may be spent regardless of the most careful prognostications by Treasury experts. This uncertainty makes the whole concept of an annual budget unrealistic.

If the Congress should vote all that the administration asked this year for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955, the sum would be 56.3 billion dollars. But there are 86.9 billion in unexpended appropriations carried over from previous sessions of Congress. This, Byrd points out, means that there is hanging over the Treasury a potential, perhaps theoretical, expenditure of 143.2 billion.

The Treasury must, through the information it gets from the various departments, anticipate pretty well how much of current appropriations will be spent and how much of the previous year's appropriations will be spent.

The guess, and it is little more than a guess, is that out of the appropriations for the present year 36.4 billion will be spent before July, 1955, and 29.2 billion of previous years' appropriations.

"The fact is," Byrd points out, "that about 50 per cent of this year's expenditures do not appear in current appropriation bills."

When we reduce an appropriation bill on the floor of the Senate, we do not know whether we are reducing the expenditures for this year, or next year or two or three years in advance. . . . Beyond this, more than 35 of appropriations on which Congress is acting this year are not for expenditures for the current year."

Moreover, the layman may not realize the difference between authorizations and appropriations. In the present year, the administration as well as Congress has been pretty prodigal in recommending and passing authorizations which will morally obligate Congress in future years to make appropriations.

The facts are not all before us yet, but it may well be that this administration, which was pledged to economy, will ultimately be a most expensive luxury.

Byrd proposes several remedies for this defective system of governmental finance. One would be to provide for a single appropriation bill so that members of both houses would be able to make comparative evaluations of the items they are appropriating.

A resolution to require this has been sponsored by Byrd and is still pending in the House.

Another recommendation would permit the President to veto specific items in the appropriation bills. This might require a constitutional amendment or possibly only a simple act of Congress. This proposal has likewise been introduced and is pending in the Judiciary Committee.

For the present, the issue is whether Congress will raise the debt limit as the treasury secretary has requested. With Byrd in opposition and the figures seeming to support him, and an election in the offing, it is not likely that such a measure will pass.

Crop Set-Aside Holds Key

Pitchforks are flying in the congressional battle over rigid vs. flexible price supports, but the real keys to farm income probably lie buried under a haystack in the far meadow. Key No. 1, according to Congressional Quarterly, is the commodity set-aside.

Other behind-the-scenes factors, which may make the loud debate academic, are diverted acreage, storage facilities, and surplus disposal. No matter which side wins the rigid vs. flexible battle, these four factors actually may determine how the farmer fares.

Flexible supports — which the President favors — rise as supply declines, decline as supply rises. Some commodities are burdened with large surpluses, which would squeeze supports close to the minimum under a fully flexible formula. Supply does not affect rigid supports.

Under the pending set-aside, however, up to 2½ billion dollars' worth of surpluses would be counted out of price-support computations. They would not disappear, but they would be ignored when the statisticians applied the flexible formula. Only part of the real surplus would weigh down supports.

Without a set-aside, wheat, for example, would slide close to the minimum support level — 75 per cent of parity — which the administration wants written into the law. But with the proposed set-aside, up to 500 million bushels of the surplus, would be sealed off, cutting the downward squeeze on supports approximately in half. With that much weight off, wheat would be supported at about 80 per cent of parity in 1955, instead of 75 per cent.

The House voted for a floor of 82.5 per cent, which would raise wheat supports still higher. As reported by committee, the Senate bill would extend 90 per cent rigid supports through 1955.

Besides wheat, the administration would permit set-aside of cotton, cotton-seed oil, butter, nonfat dry milk solids and cheese. The House would add corn.

The President proposed the set-aside as part of his policy of gradualism in converting to flexibility from rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity. He said the transition "should be accomplished in a prudent and careful manner to avoid sharp adjustments."

Although the set-aside would prevent flexible supports from having immediate effect, the administration has fought hard against rigid supports. Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said he would be satisfied "to turn the cart around and start toward flexibility."

The first battle, the administration believes, is to shake loose rigid supports, improving the odds for instituting truly flexible supports later.

The government would try to insulate the set-aside, sealing it off so it would not affect the market. But both sides in the supports debate say that 2½ billion worth of surpluses can't be sealed off completely.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Medal for a Minstrel

You can't get much on the gold medal which President Eisenhower has been authorized by Congress to strike off in honor of Irving Berlin. So to accompany it we propose the following:

To a weaver of spells, a builder of dreams and a singer of songs of love and patriotism. To a man who symbolizes the American tradition of triumph over poverty. To a guy who could bring great tunes from the depths of personal struggle and anguish. To a kid whose heart tinkled an accompaniment to the psalms of eternal happiness, even in the bleakness of a ghetto, a teeming street and the darkest of alleys.

To an O. Henry of the piano, a Keats of the music sheets and a Francis Scott Key of our critical hours. To an Aesop of Tin Pan Alley and a Hans Christian Andersen of the black and white keys.

To a living refutation of those cynics who blame "underprivilege" for failure and airily charge the slums, overburdened parents and bad breaks for the uncouth vision, the faint-hearted pursuit of a cherished goal and the incapacity to reach for the stars.

To a child of immigrants, who in the squalor of the East Side found the virtues of the poet, the minstrel and the companion of lovers everywhere.

To a Broadway tyro who began with the frivolous "Marie of Sunny Italy," "Yiddle on the Fiddle," "Sadie Salome, Go Home" and "Everybody's Doing It," and soared to the tender beauty of "All Alone By the Telephone," "They Say That Falling in Love Is Wonderful," "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" and "When I Lost You."

To a spirit that could climb from "Dorando," a comedy number about an Italian Marathon runner, to "Dancing Queen to Cheek" and "Always." To a heartbeat that could attune itself to "Alexander's Rag Time Band" and the Negro spiritual "Down to the River."

To a member of the Jewish faith who could contribute "White Christmas," as one of the most heart-warming Christmas songs of Yuletide. To a man whose tunes and lyrics came to be wafted across the still waters and the green pasture of the earth to add to the spell of moonlight nights, boy-meets-girl moods of youth and reveries of the middle aged and the old.

To a composer who began with the capricious "My Brudder Sylvester" and worked up to the great and moving melodies of American life . . . to a fellow who, while men in high position quibbled over prayer and the proper expression of patriotism in the public schools, gave both a prayer and a national anthem in "God Bless America" to the kids of the country.

To one who made people sing, dance and dream in a world where so many men contribute to hatred, envy, dissension and death . . . to a tunesmith who could bring a "Darling, do you remember that one" to halt an interlude of anger and bitterness in a disturbed home, and set a quarreling couple to humming a song they knew as young lovers.

To a man whose melodies have lightened the heart of the toiler, cheered the emphysemic and brought from the sick the whisper "Play me that one again." . . . To a guy who, as a singing waiter in a Bowery bar, could look hardship "in the kisser" and make it dance to his sense of rhythm.

To Irving Berlin, poet, minstrel, patriot and fine citizen any way you look at him . . . or listen!

Old car derbies are a fad and we have read of one in New Jersey in which the exhibitors included a Cord, a Nash, a Franklin, a La Salle and a Pierce-Arrow. Who remembers the Apperson Jackrabbit, the Stutz Bearcat, the Rambler, the Pope-Hartford, the Stoddard-Dayton, the Maxwell, the Elmore and the Peerless? The Haynes, King, Grant Cole, Simplex, Locomobile, Hupp, Marmon, Knox, White, Stanley Steamer and Emerson?

The thrill of our boyhood was a Stoddard-Dayton which had an insidious windshield which we rolled up or down, as weather demanded, presto-like tanks and a motor which had to be primed before cranking.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Austria and Serbia were on the verge of a conflict which had been expected by all Europe since the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand. An ultimatum was received at Belgrade calling upon the Serbian government to suppress the Pan-Serbian movement and punish those responsible for the assassination.

20 YEARS AGO — Mayor C. A. Bolin said he would veto an ordinance passed by City Council setting the salary of Safety Service Director Jesse A. Warrick at $50 a month. Possibility of a new outbreak of violence was feared following latest action in the Scioto marsh farm laborers' strike in Hardin County as growers issued orders to 13 families to vacate tenant houses on their lands.

10 YEARS AGO — The German army fled in disorder through central Poland as the Russians advanced within 70 miles of Warsaw and fought through the streets of Lublin only 25 miles from the Wisla River line Hitler must hold to stave off a direct assault on the Reich. Two German generals, one chief of the air force general staff, had died of injuries from the Thursday bomb-blast aimed at Hitler's life. Americans of the Fifth Army held the southwestern district of historic Pisa while other forces wiped out virtually all enemy positions on the southern banks of the Arno River from the sea to near Empoli, and additional columns pushed north from Poggibonsi to within 12 miles of Florence.

The day-old invasion of Tinian Island, moving smoothly from firm beachheads, rushed American conquest of the strategic Marianas while other Yank forces isolated key objectives on Guam, 136 miles southward.

Court Martial Verdict Clears Combat Officer

FT. DIX, N.J. — A combat-tested infantry officer today stood vindicated of charges he permitted trainees of his command to be held at ramrod-straight attention for nearly an hour in 92-degree heat.

A special court-martial board of eight fellow officers cleared Lt. Robert S. Morgan of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., of the allegation yesterday after he denied having had anything to do with the June 21 incident.

Still to be tried by court-martial is Morgan's administrative aide, Sgt. Richard J. Witbeck of Wellington, Ohio, who one recruit described as "sadistic" and the man he thought gave the order for the formation.

Morgan and Witbeck were formally charged with "dereliction of duty" and alleged maltreatment of personnel, after 225 trainees were kept at attention in the wilting heat of June 21 for an unexplained breach of discipline.

A number of the men, members of Co. L, 272nd Infantry Regiment, reportedly passed out in the hot sun.

The board deliberated an hour in acquitting Morgan after a two-day hearing.

The 28-year-old combat veteran, who was wounded in action in Germany during World War II, testified in his own defense.

He denied issuing orders as described. Other defense witnesses backed up what Morgan said.

Pvt. John Adler, 26, of Rye, N.Y., testifying for the defense, said he didn't hear Morgan issue any orders or see him in the area.

But, the Dartmouth College graduate accused Witbeck, 24, of being "very dictatorial and almost tyrannical."

In 1953 people in Connecticut made an average of 3,871,000 telephone calls a day.

Area Scouts Plan Trip To Southwest

A GROUP OF 24 Explorer Scouts planning to make a three-week trip to the Southwest next month held an overnight camp Friday night at Camp Owens south of Marion.

Here four of the boys and two adult leaders scan a map of the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, where they'll spend 10 days on a horseback trip. Left to right are Don Stout of Carey, John West of LaRue, Ernie Kathary of Marengo, Bruce Hale of Marion, Lester MacMurray of Marion and Max Carroll of Marion.

The two dozen boys from the four-county Harding Area Council will travel by automobile, accompanied by six leaders.

They will leave Aug. 14.

Plans for the trip were made last night and the boys saw movies and heard talks on the vast Philmont Scout reservation, where Scouts from all over the nation spend the summer months in hikes, horseback riding, herding cattle and other outdoor activities.

Biggest Volume in Years

Stock Market Climbs to Record Highs

NEW YORK (U) — The stock market was whip-sawed by conflicting pressures this week, but it scored another new high mark despite all handicaps.

It was the market's sixth straight weekly advance, and the swing ahead was negotiated with the highest weekly volume in nearly three and a half years.

Bullish Market
High volume in a rising market is considered quite bullish.

Buyers and sellers all week moved from one section of the market to another seeking strong points and searching for weaknesses.

They found plenty of divisions and individual issues that were ripe for their attention. The net result was a gain of 80 cents in The Associated Press average which closed the week at $131.40, highest mark since Oct. 22, 1929.

The ceasefire in Indochina was a mighty high hurdle for the market to take, but it took it. Green in the memory of traders were the slashing reactions in the stock market that accompanied twists and turns in negotiations for a ceasefire in Korea.

There were fears that such a thing might happen now in connection with Indochina. It didn't. Aircraft were his hard as might be expected.

Their reaction, however, could have come at any time because of the unusual strength shown by them in recent weeks. It really wasn't too bad, and the weakness there didn't spread to other sections of the list at all.

Merger Rumors
Real highlight of the week was the soaring bull movement in steel when the magic word "merger" was mentioned. Early in the week, rumors circulated linking the names of Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube — The number two and the number six companies in the business.

They didn't catch fire until the latter part of the week. Then those two stocks shot ahead and pulled all of the other steels up with them. By the time the market ended its week's trading, the merger rumors still were in the rumor stage, and the two featured stocks and others had subsided somewhat.

Traders were quick to get into the steel. They remembered well the swift profits rolled up on merger reports in textiles and motors in recent days.

Three Injured In Two County Auto Mishaps

2 Women in Hospital; Police in City Report Only One Minor Crash

Two accidents one involving injury to three persons, were reported today by officers of the Marion State Highway Patrol post.

The injury accident occurred at 10:54 a.m. yesterday at the intersection of county roads 35 and 45, four miles west of Green Camp. A car driven by Orville Massie Jr., 28, of Richwood, was traveling south on 35, failed to stop at the intersection with 45 and crashed into a car driven by Ruth L. Jacobs, 58, Wooster, officers said. The Jacobs auto was traveling east on Route 45.

Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Anna Grappy, 61, of near LaRue, a passenger in the Jacobs car, and Massie all were injured. Ruth Jacobs suffered contusions of the right knee and face and a sprained back while Mrs. Grappy received face and left knee lacerations. The women were taken to Marion City Hospital in a Hughes ambulance.

Massie suffered bruises on his left forearm, left knee and chin. He was not taken to the hospital, officers said.

Heavy damage was done to the front ends of both cars. The autos were removed by wreckers. Massie was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court Monday for failure to stop at a stop sign and failure to yield the right of way.

The other accident occurred at 4:50 p.m. yesterday on U. S. 30 S. two-tenths of a mile east of the Marion city limits.

A car driven by H. W. Johnson, 73, near Marion, and a car driven by James R. Byrd, 26, near Marion, were traveling east on 30 S. Johnson stopped to turn left into Ruth Ave. and was struck in the rear by Byrd's auto.

No one was injured and slight damage was done to the rear of the Johnson auto and the front of Byrd's car. Byrd was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court today for failure to stop within the assured clear distance. Johnson was given a citation to appear Monday for driving without a valid driver's license.

Minor Accident in City

One minor traffic accident involving less than $100 damage was reported by city police today. In Friday's accident report in The Star it was erroneously reported that a car driven by James L. Highland, 17, of 772 N. State St. struck another car from the rear and pushed it into a third car.

The correct version is that a car driven by Robert P. Taylor, 17, of near Marion struck Highland's car from the rear and pushed it into the rear of a car driven by Kenneth F. Meade, 26, of Morral. The collision occurred at 10:48 p.m. Thursday in front of Albert and Adams Motor Sales at 325 N. Main St.

Fisher breathed air from a tank on his back through a tube in his mouth. He removed the mouthpiece long enough to swallow a morsel of food or sip water or soup from a bottle. The food and fresh tanks of air were brought down to him by associates.

The roads built by ancient Rome still form the skeleton for the highways of Europe.

His skin was blue and wrinkled like a prune. His head and stomach ached and he drank lots of water.

There was a time earlier in the day when he thought he wouldn't make it. During the night hours the water sapped his body warmth and he felt cold and sick.

"Don't think I can stay down more than another hour," he told companions in boats above him in a message written with a grease pencil on slate. But the sun soon warmed him up and he stuck it out.

No Direct Connection
Fisher began his free dive at 3:08 p.m. Thursday and had no direct connection with the airy world above him. He hung his camping equipment on coral pinnacles and pushed friendly fish aside.

Once a shark, described by Fisher's companions as "half as big as a submarine," swam slowly overhead, eyed the strange goings on in his domain curiously, then went his way.

Fisher drank soup, ate candy, and for breakfast shot a fish with his water spear gun, sliced it and chewed it raw.

The endurance dive was to test a "Div-Air," a newly designed underwater breathing apparatus similar to the French aqualung. A face mask covered Fisher's eyes and nose but left his mouth free.

being controlled by Soviet Russia; secondly, unless a nation is Communistically inclined, it must accept the thesis that Soviet Russia and not Germany is the enemy of Western civilization. Thirdly, the realistic question today is not whether Germany will ever gain enough strength to invade France, but whether, if war should come, and force will be sufficiently powerful in Europe to withstand Russia.

FRANCE NOW OBJECTS to cer-

One reason given for France's attitude is

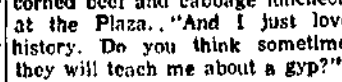

... three times in the past seventy-five years France has been overrun by the German Army. Her lands have been occupied; 2,260,000 of her sons have been killed. These events have left a heritage of suspicion and fear. Many Frenchmen who fought valiantly against the German and Italian invasions of 1914-1918 and 1940-1945 are now in the European Army in which they or their sons might take orders from German officers."

Of course, much has happened since France was invaded by Germany. For one thing, Germany is a divided country, the Eastern half

10 Soldiers Born In Foreign Lands Get U.S. Citizenship

CLEVELAND (P) -- Ten young men who served in Uncle Sam's armed forces had newly acquired citizenship papers today.

And with the prized papers, they received in federal court yesterday these words of praise from Judge Emerich B. Freed:

"By service in the armed forces you have demonstrated more eloquently than words could express your willingness to add to your contribution to those of other young men to hold in check hostile forces which aim to break down and destroy the free world."

The 10 new citizens included: Alan J. Brown, Cleveland; Ralph

Hill Country Searched For Missing Ohio Youth

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A boy stood in the shadows beneath his girl's window and called. The girl told him to go to the back of the house where he would talk to her.

Then the girl heard a "commotion" out front.

Thirteen-year-old Joyce DePries has not seen the boy since Nobles. It is known to have seen him either.

A posse searched the rugged hill country near here all day yesterday without finding a trace of Carter White, 15, of Vernon Furnace.

Mrs. Virginia Arden, an aunt, said White was "in a good mood" when he left the house late Wednesday and "had no reason to run away."
